Wage Agreement Reached In Phone Strike Early Today

Long Lines Phase Of 32-Day-Old Telephone Strike Is About Ended

AWAIT EXECUTIVE BOARD RATIFICATION

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 8.—A wage agreement was reached early today in the key long lines phase of the 32-day-old national telephone strike.

The pact called for a wage increase averaging approximately $4.40 a week for 22,000 long distance operators in 24 states.

The settlement is subject to ratification of the executive board of the long lines union and its membership.

The Long Lines settlement was the eleventh achieved among the 39 affiliates of the National Federation of Telephone Workers which started the communications tie-up last April 7.

Some 28 local unions still have not settled their pay dispute. They represent approximately 200,000 workers.

Estimate 340,000 Were Idle

At the peak of the telephone walkout an estimated 340,000 employees of the A. T. & T. and its Bell subsidiary were idle.

Top Labor Department officials said that settlement of the Long Lines case should clear the way for a speedy windup of the entire phone controversy.

NFTW President Joseph A. Beirne echoed the sentiments of the government spokesmen. Beirne commented:

"The Long Lines union operates in 225 communities throughout the country. If the agreement is accepted by the union's executive board and the members, it will have an important influence on the wage levels established by the Bell companies in their respective areas."

Officials of the Long Lines union indicated that long distance operators would return to work only (Continued on Page Two)

Marshall Will Battle For Funds

Secretary Of State Wants Information Service To Continue In Communism Fight

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., indicated today he is prepared to support an administration request for funds for the overseas information and cultural program if Secretary of State Marshall can convince him that it is needed.

This development arose as Marshall showed he is determined to press his fight in Congress to maintain his "stop communism" foreign policy, threatened by several reverses by budget slashing members.

Marshall's major matters of concern were:

1. The move in the House to refer the Greco-Turkish aid program to the United Nations.

2. House Appropriation committee clashes in the department's support of which, aside from practically eliminating the international broadcasting activities, would pare amounts needed for even more important activities in the political field.

3. The sharp reduction in the foreign relief bill.

It was reported that Marshall is willing to reduce his request for funds for the information program to ten million dollars, but that Taber is holding out for half that sum.

The appropriations committee, of which Taber is chairman, rejected the department's request for $31,381,220.

Taber wouldn't confirm this. He declared that he didn't know how much was needed, if anything. He emphasized that it was up to Marshall to justify any appropriation.

H. Gordon Selfridge Is Dead In London

LONDON, May 8.—(INS)—H. Gordon Selfridge, American-born proprietor of London's largest department store, died in his sleep today.

Selfridge was born in Ripon, Wis., and started his industrial career with the firm of Field, Leiter and Co., in Chicago.

Selfridge became a British subject by naturalization in 1937. He has spent most of his time in London since 1904.

His huge department store on Oxford Street was damaged during the German "blitzes" of 1940 and 1941. But in spite of this the store never closed for a single day. Selfridge's motto was "business as usual."

Despite his adoption of British nationality, the name of Harry Gordon Selfridge for decades was an American byword in London.

Probe Shooting In Oklahoma Senate

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 8.—(INS)—Investigators today sought an accurate account of gunplay on the Oklahoma senate floor in which a senator was wounded in the hip by a fellow-lawmaker.

The wounded legislator, 65-year-old Sen. Tom Anglin of Holdenville, was reported in good condition in University hospital.

His assailant, Rep. Jimmie Scott, 35, also of Holdenville, was booked by police on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

The shooting occurred yesterday afternoon as the senate prepared to open its next-to-final session of the 21st legislature.

Accounts of witnesses varied as to the number of shots and whether Anglin returned Scott's fire.

Senate Speeding Toward Passage Of Its Labor Bill

Measure May Reach Conference By Tonight Unless Debate Is Prolonged

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Senate sped toward passage of its labor bill.

The biggest hurdles were passed, and the measure could be sent to conference by tonight unless final debate is prolonged.

Majority Whip Wherry (R) Neb., obtained an easy agreement for a vote at 12:30 p. m. on the "third amendment" to put restrictions on handling of welfare funds collected from employers. There was little apparent opposition to the amendment.

Meanwhile, GOP Policy Chairman (R) Ohio, removed the only remaining serious barrier to early action.

Taber announced that he and Sen. Ives (R) N. Y., who spearheaded the fight against "toughening" amendments, have reached a compromise on the "fourth amendment."

Taber said he and Sen. Ball (R) Minn., are scrapping the portion of the amendment that would give employers the right to go direct to court for temporary injunctions against illegal boycotts and jurisdictional strikes.

They will retain only the section authorizing employers to bring civil (Continued on Page Two)

Asphyxiation Of Mother, Daughter Object Of Probe

EASTON, Pa., May 8.—(INS)—County and local police were investigating today the asphyxiation of a 30-year-old mother and her daughter, 12, in their Bangor home.

The victims—Mrs. George Stocker and Helen Stocker—were found by Mrs. Stocker's husband, separated from his wife for a year. He came on a bi-weekly visit to take Helen to the movies.

Dr. David Bachman, Northampton county coroner, said that "at the moment this seems like two accidental deaths."

Police were examining a "hard ball of material" which clogged a pipe leading from the coal furnace to the chimney.

The coroner speculated that Mrs. Stocker may have collapsed and struck her head against the bathroom door. The daughter was lying in her bed.

Bicyclist Hurt In Peculiar Mishap

Snow Believed To Have Saved Fruit Crop Here

Light Blanket Of Snow Covers Blossoms As Mercury Dips Below Freezing Point

REAL DANGER SEEN TONIGHT

Although the mercury dipped to 29 degrees during the night, and may have been lower in some of the outlying sections, fruit growers today were of the opinion that the snow which fell during the early morning hours saved the local fruit crop from serious damage.

The threat is not yet over, however, as the weather forecast for tonight is frosts and freezing temperatures.

Believe No Damage Done

County Agent L. C. Dayton was of the belief that no damage resulted to the fruit crop, and last night's cold might have been beneficial rather than harmful, in that it would thin the crops out some, and produce a better yield, as trees this spring are loaded down with blossoms.

W. C. Hileman, Wilmington road orchardist, also expressed the belief that there was no damage done last night. He stated that he had examined some of his trees this morning, and there did not seem to have been any apparent damage done.

Landscape White

Temperatures stood at the freezing point late last evening, but it was cloudy. Around one o'clock this morning, it cleared up, and it is possible that there was a frost, but later in the morning it started to snow, and local residents were amazed to find the landscape covered with a white blanket, it being very noticeable on roofs and trees.

About an half inch of snow fell last evening and early this morning, and snow flurries were still being noted later in the morning.

Local residents recalled the fact that snow fell here 25 years ago in May and was accompanied by freezing temperatures which got down as low as 20 above zero, virtually wiping out the fruit crop that year, and injuring other tender vegetation.

Yanks In Paris Observe Holiday

PARIS, May 8.—(INS)—The few American soldiers remaining in Paris, mostly members of the Graves Registration Command, observed the second anniversary of V-E day today as a holiday.

One formal United States Army ceremony was held, at which Brig. Gen. Howard L. Peckham reviewed the troops.

The French observance of the anniversary of the German capitulation will take place Sunday to coincide with the national holiday commemorating Joan of Arc.

However, Premier Paul Ramadier will place a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier at 6:30 p. m. today.

'Thrill Slayer' To Be Sentenced

The youthful veteran of three years in the army pleaded guilty yesterday to killing the grocer, and two judges weighed testimony offered by witnesses during the hearing.

Forse previously had confessed to slaying Kemper, after originally claiming it was accidental.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(INS)—President Truman expressed the belief on his 63rd birthday anniversary today that the world will still attain a firm peace, but it is still a long way from being consummated.

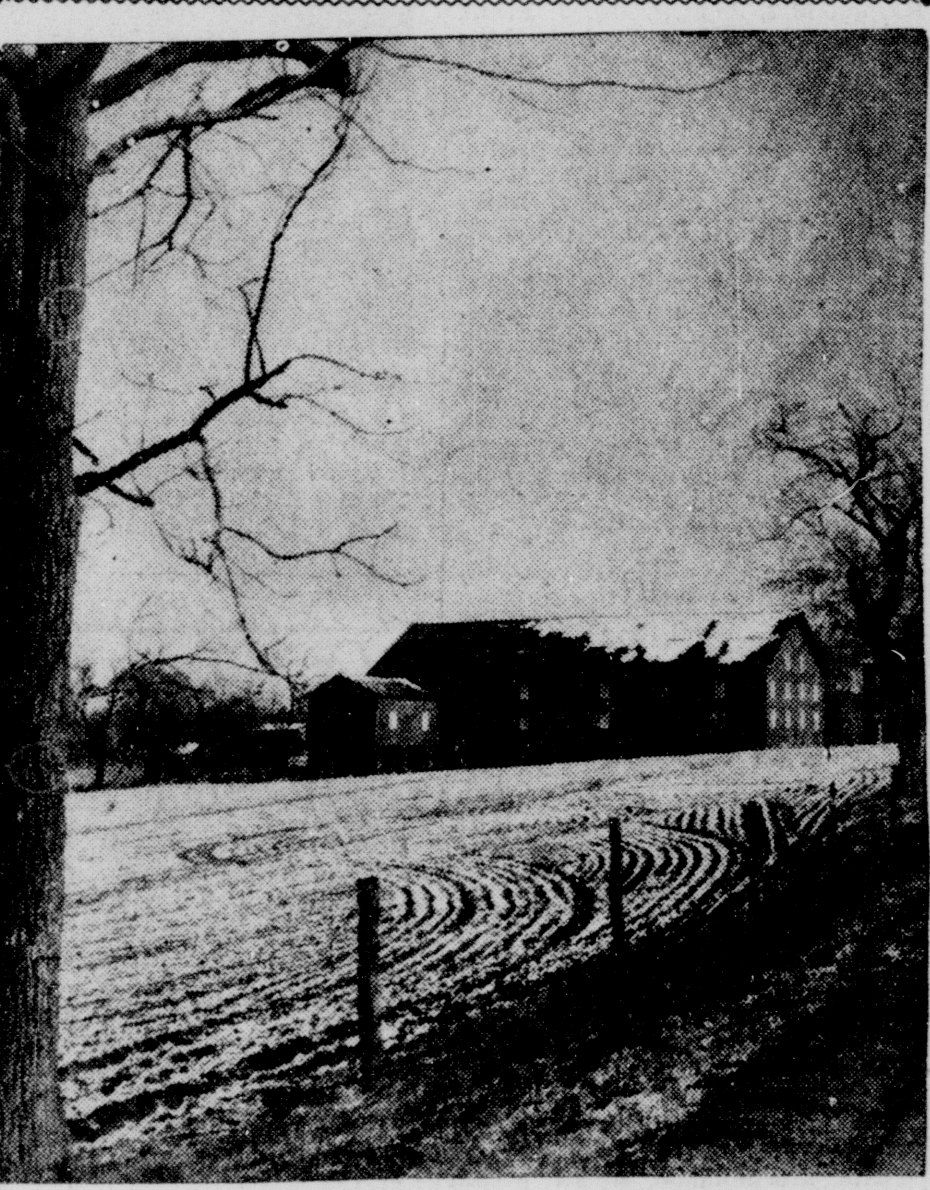

The Chief Executive told a news conference that he is a confirmed optimist on the world's future.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(INS)—President Truman is observing his sixty-third birthday today with just another round of hard work at his White House desk.

The milestone in the chief executive's life finds him in tiptop physical shape and mentally relaxed despite the burdens of the toughest job in the world.

Mr. Truman is a simple man of simple tastes. A birthday for the first lady or their daughter Margaret is an event to the president.

Snow Scene On County Farm Today

Old Man Winter made a surprise curtain call in the county early today as is evidenced by this scene on the Wright Hoffman farm in North Beaver township on the Hillsville-Mt. Jackson road.

The downfall, which reached a half inch in this area during the night, is shown blanketing a field which was plowed for sowing oats.

The freak weather, which most county residents still find hard to believe, is the first such occurrence in the past 25 years, it is stated.

Some Areas Have Three Inches Of Snow Today

(By International News Service)

A May snow storm, the first in 25 years, struck western Pennsylvania today, covering some sections with a blanket ranging up to three inches in depth.

Meadeville and Kane were hardest hit by the freak weather, with three inches of snow remaining on the ground early this morning as freezing temperatures prevailed.

At Erie, nearly an inch of snow fell in outlying areas, and about two inches fell at Warren.

Ball Diamond Covered

A half inch of snow covered the ground at New Castle early today. At Oil City a baseball game was postponed last night because the diamond was covered with snow.

Snow flurries continued today throughout the area. Temperatures ranged down to three and four degrees below freezing, with some crop damage reported.

More cold weather, with sub-freezing temperatures and frost, was forecast for tonight, with the temperature gradually climbing back toward normal under sunny skies tomorrow.

To Speed Action On Succession To Presidency

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(INS)—A House subcommittee today prepared to speed action on legislation establishing Speaker Martin (R) Mass., as successor to President Truman in the event of death.

Rep. Robison (R) Ky., chairman of the Judiciary committee preparing the presidential succession measure, announced he would report out a bill within 10 days making the speaker and then the president pro tem of the Senate first in line for the presidency after the vice president.

Robison declared he would seek prompt action in the House. An essentially identical bill has been given committee approval already in the Senate.

The Senate acceptance of the speaker as first in line terminated a conflict, announced he would report out a bill within 10 days making the speaker and then the president pro tem of the Senate first in line for the presidency after the vice president.

The bill was passed by the House but died in the Senate.

Butler Ave. Route

At six a. m. Monday the Butler avenue route will be as follows: starting in front of the post office, on the Diamond, through East Washington street to County Line street, to Ray street, to Butler avenue, to Adams street. A loop will be made at this point and the return trip will be along the same route. Buses will leave the post office on the hour and half hour from six a. m. until 11 p. m. Buses will leave Butler avenue and Adams street on the quarter hour and three-quarter hour.

North Hill Changes

On the Highland avenue line buses will travel north to Englewood avenue, thence west through Englewood avenue, south on Albert street, thence east through Edgewood avenue to Highland avenue.

On the Jefferson street line buses will travel north via Wilmington avenue to Euclid avenue, thence east to North Mercer street, thence south on North Mercer street to Garfield avenue, which they will travel west to Wilmington avenue, thence continue south through North Jefferson street.

Croton Route

Croton avenue's new route will follow East Washington street through County Line street, thence west through Crawford avenue to Croton avenue, and return the same route. Operations on Pine and Walnut streets have been eliminated, pursuant to a request by City Council, which will result in better service and necessity for buses to turn from Croton avenue into Walnut street, which contains a hazard at the intersection of Croton avenue and Walnut street.

The foregoing extensions were requested by Mayor Haven and Council recently, with the result that the transportation company petitioned the Public Utilities Commission for permission to make the changes, which have been granted, according to word received here.

Soviet Press Makes Charges Stalin Interview Changed

MOSCOW, May 8.—(INS)—The Soviet press charged today that the American press was guilty of several deliberate changes and errors in publishing the text of the Harold E. Stassen interview with Premier Stalin.

The charge was appended to the text of the interview which occupied a full page today in all Soviet papers.

The Russians newspapers said the deviations occurred even though the former Minnesota governor had been handed a copy of the present transcript in Moscow.

They added that Stassen personally had approved the recorded version of his statements while the Generalissimo approved his own.

Somebody's wrong in this weather, somebody ought to get right; there were sprinkles of snow this morning and a freezing temperature last night. Somebody's done wrong by the maiden, the maiden who's known as May, when it ought to be warm it's chilly instead and just about forty today. The peaches and cherries and apples are shivering in their clothes, and even the onions and parsley it seems, look just about as if they were froze.

Over across the street, one little peach tree spent the night under a tarpaulin cover.

Looked like midwinter early this morning, to see cars parked out overnight covered with a thick coating of white, result of the unusual snowstorm of the night.

Many owners of flower gardens and vegetable gardens took precautions last night to guard their plants and flowers from weather conditions, by covering them. Indications that the coverings will be needed again tonight.

During Wednesday afternoon's brief snow storm, two gentlemen in the North Hill section of the city were noted mowing their lawns, attired in overcoats.

Despite the cold weather of Wednesday, workmen were busy erecting several small buildings to house concessions for the summer. The small building erected near the dance pavilion is a part of the miniature golf course to be installed.

March-like winds prevailed on East Washington street Wednesday. Down towners found it quite a task to buck the strong gales. Many hats went sailing through the air to land under the wheels of passing cars.

One foresighted woman in the city offered Pa Newc the suggestion that when the city gets around to erecting the new street signs that (Continued on Page Two) suits for damages in such cases. Taft said Ives will accept that provision.

The alibi wasn't good enough, however. McDade drew a three-year sentence in a federal penitentiary after pleading guilty to draft evasion.

Other amendments were pending—some of which would put into the Senate bill much of the stringent House-passed Hartley bill.

But without the GOP leadership's support, and with some Republican and Democratic opposition, they were not regarded as having more than slight chance of acceptance by the Senate.

Setback For Taft
Taft said he would accept the Taft-Ball amendment to restrict industry-wide bargaining was defeated by a 44 to 43 vote. Senators from states where industrywide bargaining prevails in major industries bolted the GOP leadership and joined with foes of "tough" legislation.

Although Taft believed he could win by one vote later, he waited a move to reconsider the vote. Taft explained that he feared such a move would retard passage of the measure.

Minority Leader Barkley (D) Ky. and Sen. Hatch (D) N. M., clinched the defeat by getting a motion to reconsider.

Taft said he will oppose in conference the House-passed ban on industrywide bargaining—which goes further than the Taft-Ball proposal.

CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP

I was born with music in my system. It was a gift from God. I did not acquire it. So, I do not even deserve thanks for the music. Music is too sacred to be sold. I never look upon the money I earn as my own. It is public money. It is only a fund entrusted to me for proper disbursement. My wife feels exactly as I do about these things. In all of these years of my so-called success in music, we have not built a home for ourselves. Between it and us stand all the homeless of the world.—Fritz Kreisler.

W. W. M. G. CLASS HOST AT DINNER

On Tuesday evening, members of the W.W.M.G. class of Third United Presbyterian church entertained members of the Open Door class at a dinner party at the church.

These two classes had challenged each other in the pre-Easter attendance campaign, the winner to be entertained by the losers. Since the Open Door class, taught by Calvin Atwell, won the contest, by about fourteen points, W.W.M.G. members fulfilled their part of the agreement by preparing and serving a delicious dinner, covers being laid for seventy-five, at tables, tastefully decorated in blue and gold.

After dinner, the entire group assembled for a program over which Clayton Bryan presided as master of ceremonies. Dr. J. Paul Graham, pastor of the church, spoke briefly, commending both groups on their fine spirit of cooperation and also for the fine attendance records and new members gained throughout the contest. Mr. Atwell, teacher of the winning class, also spoke briefly, expressing appreciation of his class for the evening's entertainment but refusing to disclose the secret methods used to attain success, reserving them for use in future contests.

Albert Ramsey was then introduced, and he entertained with a series of "Movies." These included reels of sports, news, travel and nature.

Special arrangement committee of the W.W.M.G. class, in charge of arrangements for the evening, was composed of the following: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. William Birt and Mr. and Mrs. William Kyle. Other members of the class assisted with preparation and serving.

At the conclusion of the program, a short business meeting was conducted by Mate McKim, president. Announcement was made by chairman of the finance committee, Clayton Bryan, that a pie social would be held in the near future, the exact date is to be announced later.

Committee chairmen, appointed for the next six months include special arrangements, Mrs. Frank Davis; finance, Clayton Bryan; sick and flower, Mrs. Ernest King and devotional, Mrs. Clarence McHattie. Mrs. Paul McGuffee is teacher of the class. Mrs. John O'Neill and Mrs. Mate McKim are attendance secretaries, and Mrs. Plummer D. Gibson is news reporter.

J. O. Y. CLASS HAS MOTHERS' DINNER

Annual mothers-daughters banquet for members of the J.O.Y. class of the First Baptist church and guests took place Tuesday evening in the church parlors. Dinner was served at 6:30 at tables decorated in yellow and green with bowls of snapdragons in pastel tones centering the two long tables.

Yellow and green were also carried out in decorations around the room and in the hand-painted programs and sachet favors at each place.

For singing to open the program, Mrs. W. H. Luikart was soloist for the verses with the group joining in the chorus. Mrs. W. M. Rodgers was piano accompanist. Mrs. Oliver W. Hurst gave the invocation.

Mrs. Howard Frew gave the toast to the members and Mrs. George Mitchell responded with the toast to daughters.

Speakers of the evening was Miss Mary Scherger who gave a most interesting talk appropriate to the occasion.

Other features of the program were a reading by Mrs. G. E. Kray and a duet by Carol Joseph and Norma Harlan with Marilyn Joseph as accompanist and a vocal solo by Mary Lou Aiken with Mrs. W. H. Luikart as accompanist.

Decorations were in charge of Mrs. Paul Sanders and Mrs. D. H. Smith.

The group attended the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Hays. The latter is a sister of Mrs. Alice Bevan.

1907 Club Meets

Mrs. George Woodring of Almira avenue was a pleasing hostess Wednesday evening to members of the 1907 club.

Two tables of 500 were in play, high score prizes going to Mrs. Pearl Carr, Mrs. J. W. Logue and Mrs. Mary Geddis. A dainty lunch was served later.

DEMOCRACY IN JAPAN

With world attention directed mainly to the difficult problem of restoring order and peace in Europe, the progress made by General Douglas MacArthur in re-ordering the affairs of Japan has not received the full measure of general appreciation it has rated.

Admiral Louis E. Denfield, commander-in-chief of the Pacific area, who has just returned from a tour of Pacific bases and Japan, voiced amazement at the way General MacArthur "has that place running and everybody happy." Admiral Denfield attributed to General MacArthur the statement that, if a plebiscite were now taken, 90 per cent of the Japanese would vote to have Japan become a United States territory.

Even if this reported viewpoint of General MacArthur were subjected to liberal discount, the reconstruction of Japan has become an impressive enough story to warrant considerable gratification on the part of the Allied supreme commander as well as the American people.

Certainly the reconstruction program of Japan has proceeded with steady and smooth effectiveness, in striking contrast to obstructive developments in Allied handling of the affairs of Europe.

The American people hardly would want Japan as a territory, but such a conception would be welcomed as a "natural" by Russia if the reds were in control of Japan's postwar destiny. That the Japanese people would be opposed to assimilation by the Soviet is obvious. Their status as a natural protégé of democracy might well be envied by various peoples of Europe and Asia who have found the hug of the bear too oppressive for comfort—if not for survival.

WHAT KIND OF CARS?

What Americans want in an automobile and what they say they want are two very different things, according to a speech Henry Ford II made to the National Press Club at Washington the other day.

Ford said that his company, like other motor manufacturers, has done a great deal of experimenting on light cars because prospective buyers said they wanted that kind of an automobile. But when these potential customers were asked what they expected of a light car, they said they wanted one heavy enough not to sway in a strong wind at high speed, with a heavy frame for stability, and equipped with bumpers, ashtrays, a radio, and the usual accessories.

Such a car, Ford observed, would weigh the same as a standard model even after utilizing new metals and other means of saving weight. The company has come to the conclusion, he added, that when people say they want a light car they mean they want a low-priced car.

He is probably right about it. It is true, as he said, that "the luxuries of yesterday are the necessities of today" and Americans generally would prefer the cars now being produced to lighter models, with less space and less comfort as well as less power and speed. They want what they have been getting, for less money.

Still, the time may be coming when it may be necessary for manufacturers to produce automobiles considerably less expensive than those of today to tap the mass market. There may be a difference between what Americans want and what they say they want. There may be another difference, eventually, between what they want and what they will take.

RECLUSE AND REFUSE

The National Fire Protection Association, sponsor of the annual Spring Clean-Up Campaign, now being held in communities across the nation, charges that ninety per cent of our record-breaking fire loss could be prevented by cleaning out rubbish and by correcting other obvious fire hazards.

Recently the nation's newspapers gave much coverage to the human interest phases of the death of two aged recluses in an old New York City mansion that they crammed with waste paper and junk that required days to remove.

Pathetic as was the lonely and tragic end of the Collyer brothers there is even a deeper significance unmentioned in the public print. If a monument were needed to mark bad housekeeping practices, which serve as a disease and fire threat to the community, no better one could be found than that much publicized rubbish-filled New York mansion Death uncovered. A man's home is his castle but no private individual should be allowed to maintain a firetrap that is a menace to his neighbor and community. It is certainly a sad commentary on present day civic administration that such an unsafe condition could exist right under the eyes of public officials in America's largest city.

Stassen says Stalin told him he wants to cooperate but the United States won't let him. Hitler would have told Harold the same thing had he called on the fuhrer 10 years ago.

Secretary Marshall admits he doesn't understand modern art. But he seems to have tumbled to the Moscow brand of modern artfulness.

Hints On Etiquette

If you are angry at a friend, do not write to him or her. Postpone it until you are less emotional and therefore more just. If you write as you feel at the moment you may regret it all your life.

To Tell Our Story

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The President's committee to study universal military training is completing a report soon to be made public. They have heard many witnesses, for and against, and their report will reflect a careful and thorough review of an issue that stirs intense feeling.

Some of the military witnesses were frank in their appraisal of the value of military training. They conceded that, under conditions of modern warfare, its value was debatable. But the almost always added that it was necessary to impress the world, particularly Soviet Russia, with our intention to keep order and live up to our international commitments.

The program would cost a minimum of $2,000,000,000 a year. If the value of mass armies is debatable, then this conceivably becomes a very costly gesture to impress the peoples of the world. Yet it is contemplated and it may be adopted.

At the same time the House Appropriations committee, with the House promising to follow suit, cuts out the entire State department information program for reasons of economy. In that way they save $31,000,000.

Modest Attempt

The information program is a modest attempt to tell the world the truth about this country. It is an effort to correct the distortions and the deliberate lies about America that are being circulated by power agencies of mass propaganda.

Some of the program's radio phase known as the Voice of America, the State department has asked for $16,100,000. Of this amount, $6,100,000 would pay for putting up (Continued on Page Seven)

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE

Question: If when a close friend suffers a bereavement and I call personally to express my sympathy, must I also write her a letter of condolence?

Answer: If you see the bereaved person and express your sympathy, you need no letter. Should she be "not at home" when you call, you may leave your visiting cards with a message of condolence written on a call. When distance prohibits such a call, a letter should be written immediately upon receiving word of the death.

Question: I frequently see people remove the right glove to shake hands. Is this necessary?

Answer: A man meeting a woman on the street should remove his right glove before shaking hands. Gloves worn with formal clothes—at the opera, a wedding, a ball, etc.—should not be removed for this purpose. A man should extend his gloved hand when the gloves are intended to be worn indoors. A woman need never remove her glove to shake hands, regardless of the circumstances.

Question: Should a man tip his hat when meeting women members of his family or is this unnecessary because of their close relationship and intimate daily meetings?

Answer: He should raise his hat to any woman he knows, regardless of the relationship and intimate daily meetings.

Question: What is the proper way to announce a new residence after one has moved?

Answer: It is customary to mail visiting cards, bearing the new address, to such friends and acquaintances as should be notified of the change. But if you do not care to do this, you might just call them on the telephone.

Some tasks there are that strength require.

Their sole demand is bodies stout.

But strength at common rates men hire.

For it's abundantly about.

But those with strength alone content,

As delivers lifelong will remain; Their years at wearying labors spent.

Their dreams of fame and fortune vain.

Who would the greater stations earn

And high in men's esteem would rise.

Words Of Wisdom

God hath yoked to guilt, her pale tormenter, misery.—Bryant.

Woman In Red

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN FINAL GRADES ARE FAILING

It won't be long before the parents of the child at school or college will know whether he has passed or failed. No matter what words are used they will be just as sweet or bitter.

Failure by the child to make the grade, especially in high school or college, will come as a great shock to some parents a few of whom will "blow up." To some other parents the "failure" report will be a climax to a long period of worry and anxiety, perhaps of tugging at the youth's heartstrings or hounding him for his lag.

Skill And Wisdom

A few of these youths might still be "dragged across the line" if their parents were to exercise proper skill and wisdom. Many, however, would be better off if the parents said nothing, did nothing. Final success won't come through emotional appeal or explosion, but may come through reasonable planning and guidance. A few youths might still be helped with the aid of a tutor, provided they will cooperate. Even at a great financial sacrifice this might prove a profitable investment. Under no conditions should parents try to bring pressure on the teacher to assign a passing grade unearned.

Thousands of youths will, because of their poor scholastic record, not be allowed to return to college next fall. A few of them may be shielded among their relatives and friends under the false label of ill health—a curse from which these youths may never wholly recover.

Face Realities

Wise parents face realities. They expect the failing student to get a job. Then if this student had failed at college for want of proper application to his studies, he may be ready after a year or so to return to college in earnest, or to enter a night college while continuing with his job.

As a rule, the high school student who has failed should return to school in the fall, unless the school should advise to the contrary. Any way, in most places jobs for him won't be plentiful. It is tragic for him to quit school and loaf.

True, some parents won't be able to do much about it, having so little influence and control over this youth. Yet ever so many parents could, if they had sufficient vision and courage, keep the youth in school as long as such would be profitable.

Unfavorable Report Card

Many parents otherwise intelligent will act very childishly when an unfavorable report card (regardless of the child's age) comes home. They will scold and shame the child, compare him with more successful persons, or charge him with sheer laziness. A few children, indeed, will be beaten by irate, "insane" parents. How absurd. It's water over the dam.

Izvestia reports that British and American officers are in Turkey disguised as traveling salesmen...evidently detected by an Izvestia reporter disguised as a farmer's daughter.

In fact when modern Turkey ordered women to go unveiled nobody knew whether the hidden faces would come out with moles or mistaches.

SURPRISE FOR GENERAL MARSHALL

Mr. Molotov has released the transcript of an agreement reached at Yalta and signed by Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin. Churchill, however, signed with special reservations.

Here is one paragraph of the transcript as released by Molotov to the press:

"The Moscow Reparations Committee should take in the initial stages as a basis for discussion the suggestion of the Soviet government that the total sum of reparations, in accordance with Points A and B of Paragraph Two should be twenty billion dollars and that fifty per cent of it should go to the USSR."

Stalin-Roosevelt Agreement

Another paragraph records that "the British delegation was of the opinion that pending consideration of the reparations question by the Moscow Reparations Commission no figures be mentioned". Thus the deal was simply an agreement between Stalin and Roosevelt, Churchill having been overruled.

Most Americans hoped that we had heard the last of these secret commitments. This latest disclosure comes, not from Washington, but from Moscow. We had previously been told, when other commitments were exposed, that there were more. Now our Secretary of State (Continued on Page Seven)

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

You will be interested, I am sure, in the excerpt from a letter which came to my desk this morning, because it is so significant of the thoughts of hundreds of people who have written to me—and perhaps it applies to thoughts you may have had.

"As the saying goes," quotes my correspondent, "man is born free and equal. The freedom part may be all so, especially here in the United States, but where is the equality part of it?"

"Some fortunate people are born into wealth, robust health, intelligent parentage, etc., while others—why go further?"

"One of our desires has been merely to own a small home and possess the cash to pay for it, with a little extra on hand for that inevitable rainy day. We start out hopefully, time and again, to save and plan, then along comes Fate and scatters our cards of effort and sincerity of purpose. Why?"

"The other day the papers told of a philanthropist down Texas way who gave a mere 100 million dollars toward educational and charitable purposes. A very worthwhile act, indeed. More power to him and his great generosity, but, personally, if I had only enough to buy that little house and to have that extra few rainy-day dollars, I would feel the equal of any man."

"I wish you, with your bag of faithful philosophy, would dig down and give chaps like me and many others an explanation of the logic of this unequality and make us reason to believe that half of us are not simply born lucky, while the other half (or even more) just simply cannot hurdle the barrier and are condemned to be economic underdogs from cradle to grave."

"Again, I ask you, Why?"

I wish I could answer that letter without being accused of being trite and spouting just a lot of Utopian nonsense and Pollyanna-ish trash. But I can't, and all I can tell you is what I have learned by my own experience and by the experience of others.

I had a talk with Henry Ford one time.

"There is no such thing as luck," he said. "The men who are called lucky are those who were not satisfied with wishing for things but had the energy and the will to make wishes come true."

Certainly Henry Ford was not born to wealth nor did he amass his fortune by luck or any particular kindness of fate.

He had a vision and he made that vision come true by sagacity and hard work.

Bupt Henry Ford was a genius, you may say.

How does my correspondent know that he is not a genius? Does he just wish for that little house, or is he waiting for that millionaire to build one for him?

Of course, there is no equality of brains, of health, of wealth or of social position.

But happiness, as a philosopher said, consists not in wishing for things that you may never be able to have, but for only those things you are able to get.

I once thought I'd like to be a millionaire. My fortune at that time was 30 cents. It took me more than a year to save the first ten dollars.

I gave up wishing for a million—and I am happy now. (Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

PRIZE FIGHTERS

Prize fighters are very particular about their health.

They try to eat the right kind of food. They are sure to get enough sleep. They are very careful about exercise and rest.

They want to keep the body in the very best condition. They are anxious about good health.

Some prize fighters do not go to Sunday school very regularly. That is where they make a mistake.

A sound mind in a sound body is good. It seems to take some religion to help things along.

A healthy bulldog may be a pretty good fighter. He is only a dog. A man is something else yet.

Green Holds Own In Repartee With Newsmen
Farming Becomes Efficient, Cutting Labor Costs
U. S. Revenues Are Better Than Had Been Expected

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON, May 8.—AFL President William Green has convinced Washington newsmen that labor leaders can take it as well as dish it out. During a news conference, reporters seized upon Green's announcement that the AFL will erect a new headquarters building to kid him about the "high cost of labor."

Green smiled broadly and fired back: "We won't worry about the 'high cost of labor'—or about jurisdictional strikes, either."

Referring to the AFL leader's move to get CIO President Philip Murray into joint talks, looking toward "organic unity" of the two rival labor organizations, another reporter asked:

"Will there be room enough in the new building for the CIO?"

Green chuckled happily and responded: "I imagine we can find a place for them."

The final repartorial thrust was, "I hear they (the CIO) are looking for new quarters." "Good," exclaimed Green, underscoring the word.

FARM EFFICIENCY IS REVEALED by a Labor department survey which shows that farmers today use less than two-thirds as much labor per unit of product as they did in 1920.

Officials point out that one hour of work now results on the average in about one-third more milk, one-half more corn, and two and one-half times as much wheat as it did 27 years ago.

Furthermore, they add, each farm worker today handles more acres of cropland, and produces more crops and livestock per acre than he would have in 1920.

Some government farm experts believe that even further reductions in labor and other costs are possible, particularly in the way of improving milk and meat production. They say that one of the most promising ways of reducing livestock costs is pasture improvement through the use of fertilizer, lime and new pasture crops.

In dairy production, however, farms need to develop ways of saving labor and other costs in caring for the animals themselves. Efficiency experts think that pen-type barns and "walk through milking parlors" hold some promise.

Optimistic government officials see even better times ahead for the nation's farmers.

"In the next few years," they say, "we can develop labor-saving methods adapted to our special conditions which will reduce the direct man hour labor per 100 pounds of milk as much as one-half."

GOP LEADERS ON CAPITOL HILL are not saying much these days about their promised drive to trim billions from President Truman's budget-spending program.

It has bogged down because of Senate-House differences concerning the amount to be cut. More important, unsettled world conditions have forced delay in any budget-cutting decision.

The Greek-Turkish aid bill, involving 400 million dollars, is but one facet of the new anti-Communist program which may ultimately cost upwards of a billion dollars.

Besides world affairs, there are stalled congressional efforts to trim the funds of the Army and Navy, once considered the most fertile field for slashes in government spending. The Republican leadership is loath to reduce defense spending in the light of present international conditions, particularly in view of the breakdown in the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting in Moscow.

Further, the House appropriations committee, which initiates government agency supply bills, has found through bitter experience that the money cuts it planned are impossible of fulfillment. Only the better-than-expected government revenues have saved the GOP fac on the promised tax reduction.

All-in-all, there will be a tax cut—probably vetoed by President Truman—and there will be payments on the war-swollen national debt. However, government spending will come much closer to the 37.5 billion dollars forecast by the President than most Republicans would like to see.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

A fresh conception of the United Nations security council as a deterrent to aggression by any country was placed before the world today.

It was the simple and frank statement by Sen. Joseph T. McNarney, that any nation refusing to participate in, or pulling out of the international armed force planned by the council can have but one aim in mind.

And that is war. The former commander-in-chief of United States armed forces in Europe and the military governor of occupied territories for more than two years was speaking in the forthright terms of a professional soldier and what he said could serve to clear up a great many misunderstandings.

Couldn't Wage War

He pointed out with ultimate clarity that the United Nations army, as envisaged, could not possibly be strong enough by itself to defeat any one of the major powers that had launched any all-out, aggressive warfare.

Gen. McNarney explained this by a easy formula embracing two postulates:

First, the major power involved automatically would have defaulted from the security army, lessening the pool resources of that organization in direct ratio to its strength.

Second, the defaulting nation would have behind it the entire manpower and industrial and scientific resources which it possesses. And thus it would require not a token United Nations army, but a full-scale coalition of armed and militant countries on the defensive to bring it to its knees.

Hopeful Message

Gen. McNarney made his observations on the mechanism of future peace at his first news conference after accepting assignment as United States air force representative on the United Nations military staff committee.

His message was a hopeful one, for he talked of many past disagreements and of compromises that had been reached on a plan far short of appeasement.

He stressed most emphatically that so far as the principles involved in the security council's military plans, there is no apparent disagreement. Any lack in a meeting of minds centers around application of these principles, and in his statement there was a ring of conviction that present guile among nations, no matter how wide at the moment, eventually will be bridged.

According to Gen. McNarney, the first nation to play hooky from the United Nations is the one to be mistrusted.

And up to now, at least, there has been no epidemic of truancy.

Illustrative of the Communists, who all over the world use words with reckless disregard for their real meaning, is the fact that the Daily Worker, official organ of the Communist Party—which believes in dictatorship and no press freedom—is published by a corporation called Freedom of the Press Co., Inc.—Milwaukee Journal.

Says Stalin In U. N. To Defeat Real Purposes

WASHINGTON, May 8—(INS)—Rep. Richards (D) S. C., opened the second day's debate on the Greco-Turkish aid bill Wednesday with a charge that Marshal Stalin accepted Russian membership in the U.N. in an effort to defeat its purposes.

Richards charged that while Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and Andrei Gromyko, Soviet ambassador to U.N. were accusing the United States of bypassing U.N., Russia was interfering in the internal functions of Yugoslavia, Romania and Bulgaria.

The Foreign Affairs Committee member told the House:

Reason For Failure
The real question is why the United Nations Organization has been unable to function. The answer is—because of Russia. Russia entered this United Nations Organization to use it and with a purpose already clearly defined in the mind of Stalin—to defeat the purposes of that organization.

"The sooner you realize that Russia did not join the United Nations Organization in good faith the better."

The House hopes to complete general debate this afternoon and begin voting on amendments tomorrow. A final vote appeared probable Friday. Speaker Martin (R) Mass. has predicted a "substantial majority" for the bill, but a determined minority, especially on the Republican side, is bitterly battling approval.

As debate resumed, Rep. Celler (D) N. Y., made public the results of a postcard poll taken in his 15th District on President Truman's "Stop Communism" program. Celler said it showed that his constituents were three to one against the 400 million dollar authorization.

'Genius' Will Not Come To U. S. If His Dog Is Barred

By NORA W. MARTIN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS—Unless the United States modifies the law which prohibits bringing dogs into the country, Americans will not make the acquaintance of Christian Berard.

The settings of some successful plays as well as the French film, "The Beauty and the Beast" made Christian Berard the best known French stage-designer.

His celebrity reached the states and he has received big offers from Hollywood. But there is "Jacinthe", his beloved dog, who never leaves her master. Berard says he will not leave his pet behind.

Fantastic Settings
The settings of Christian Berard are fantastic to an extreme. The characters are reflected in the shapes and the colors conjured up to portray them. The atmosphere of his decorating gives an idea of his genius and his personality.

"Bebe (baby) Berard is a chubby little man with rosy cheeks and a long beard. He is affectionately called "Bebe" by his friends. His talent and his fame are extensive enough to allow him some kind of eccentricity in his appearance. "Bebe has never been seen with properly creased trousers, and his utter disdain of his clothes is in keeping with his genius."

His friends know his contempt for all aspects of hygiene. He wipes his paint brushes on his beard. Ink on his fingers does not trouble him in the least. He likes to sleep fully dressed. Early visitors can find him in the morning with tangled hair and a rumpled tie, contemplating an orchid or some other thing of beauty.

Eccentric Imagination
Christian Berard's imagination is as eccentric as his personal appearance. He has a great weakness for juggling. He takes for instance the dismounted top of his bathtub—which serves him to no other purpose—and juggles it on his head. In other moments, curtains or bedcovers become marvelous dresses and draperies in his talented fingers.

If Berard works, he does it hard and without any rest. Between brushes, materials and textiles he moves quickly, always accompanied by his dog.

She even accompanied him to a party at the British embassy.

High School Choir Delights Kiwanians With Fine Program

Director Robert A. Duff Presents
A Cappella Choir In Program
Wednesday Noon

Kiwanis club members were unanimous in their opinion that Wednesday noon's program, presented by the a cappella choir of senior high school, directed by Robert A. Duff, was the finest yet given them by this splendid musical organization. The program was a well balanced one, showing the splendid coordination of the group, which responded to Director Duff's commands with precision. As their concluding number, the choir rendered "A Ballad for Americans" with Jack Robey taking the solo part and Miss Carolyn Cox accompanying at the piano. The appreciation of the club was expressed by E. E. Branstetter, who introduced them.

It has been decided by members of the North Beaver township volunteer fire department that the fire engine and equipment will be housed temporarily in the Miller barn in Mt. Jackson until sufficient funds have been contributed or raised to erect a permanent fire-house.

Electricity has been installed, and a warning siren has been placed atop the building. The interior has been renovated to make it available for meetings and dances.

The first activity will be a public square dance this evening in the barn, commencing at 8 o'clock.

WASHINGTON CALLING

transmitters, and this expense would not recur.

Substantial evidence is accumulating that, even inside Russia, people are listening to the Voice of America. One sure sign is that the broadcasts have been savagely attacked by Ilya Ehrenburg, propagandist-in-chief in the Soviet corps of intellectuals.

The hope is that the Senate, on mature consideration, will restore all or part of the fund for this information program. Apologists for Chairman John Taber and his axemen on the House Appropriations committee are using the following excuse. They say that we can cut out the broadcasting program now, and then if there seems to be a need for it, we can revive it later.

Major Flaw
There is a major flaw in this excuse. The Voice of America is at present broadcasting on 56 international frequencies. It was very hard to get those frequencies. Thirty-four nations are now broadcasting and they all have legitimate claims to the less than 200 wavelengths available. If the United States gives up her frequencies, they will be snapped up at once. And the possibility of our ever getting them back will be extremely remote. This is the test that determines whether we shall or shall not have a voice on the world air-waves.

Before 1939, international frequencies were assigned under an international convention. A total of 233 frequencies were registered at Bern, Switzerland, but 40 per cent were unusable for one reason or another.

Chaos In Ether
During the war, part of the battle was to grab off the enemy's frequencies and he grabbed yours. The result was chaos in the ether. Two preliminary international conferences have sought to untangle the snarl. A third is to be held at Atlantic City in July. If we have surrendered our frequencies at that time, the conference is likely to confirm their allocation elsewhere. The Voice of America will be silenced.

It is impossible, too, to hold together a competent information staff with the axe always hovering in the air. That has been difficult enough in any event. With public servants treated as though they were a species of criminal, the scramble to get out of government and back into private business is not surprising.

The Tabers could, of course, go much further. They could cut out the postal system. That would save a great deal of money. In the distant past, there must have been Tabers who considered rural free delivery as a wicked device to communicate the country.

The Voice of America delivers news and information to people who live on no postal route that we can reach. As the nation that has developed radio technically to a greater degree than any other, we shall look pretty foolish if we decide to mute the small voice that is ours today.

"I was told to provide my own defense, Your Honor. Here it is."

IN THE OPEN

We engaged in a little poaching expedition one recent evening. Instead of guns or fishing tackle we carried a spade and some pasteboard cartons. Steadily we marked down our quarry, threading rocky ravines to arrive unseen for the secret "kill". Laden with the spoils, we emerged triumphantly from the thickets an hour or so later at our own fence line.

Never twinge of conscience did we feel. Our cartons contained specimen clumps of some of the more beautiful spring flowers to be found in the valley. There were several choice plants of mercurialis, the Virginia bluebell which is now so beautiful along its chosen creek bottoms. Some clumps of the fragile collinsia, the Blue-eyed Mary, were also among the loot, together with a plant or two of wild blue phlox and a cluster of bluebells.

Our real objectives were the bluebells and the collinsia. In another few weeks the juggernauts of the strip miners will have run roughshod over the whole valley bottom and these flowers will be gone forever. Accordingly we have no compunctions about trying to save some small portion of the natural beauty which has made this valley a botanist's paradise.

Virginia Bluebells
Virginia bluebells will live quite happily and will make quite an early showing in the perennial garden. They prefer their soil on the moist side and do not object to some shade. The collinsia is quite a rarity hereabouts. It takes the name of Blue-eyed Mary from the two-colored petals, one set a clear light blue and the others white.

A little extra spade work in the flower plots established these doomed wildlings in new and protected homes. About the only misfortune that can befall them is for the rabbits to take a sudden liking for wild flowers. Right now the rabbits in our neighborhood are too much interested in demolishing my early cabbage and seedling peas to bother with the newcomers.

Showy trillium is once more starring the wooded slopes with great clumps of white bloom. We took a weekend jaunt about the countryside to see this annual spectacle and found trillium by the bushel and a half of other interesting outdoor doings to boot. Our first port of call was the valley of the talking brook. Along the way we noted early saxifrage blooming by the roadside, and a magnificent showing of violets, mostly the white and purple varieties, with here and there a clump of the yellow blooms.

The brook chattered cheerfully over its rocky course as we strolled back through the butternut grove and into the swales where the dark green leaves of skunk cabbage dominate the scene. A water thrush scolded and grieved about as we invaded his bailiwick. Shadblow was still blooming in the thickets and we noted some fern fiddle-heads uncoiling by the path-side.

Final Abandoned Homestead
Long abandoned fields, now overrun by poverty grass and berry tangles, edge the upper end of this hidden valley. We noted a rooftop across the hills and walked that way, to find an abandoned homestead, which had been a pretentious pioneer home many years ago. There had been several log buildings in the original groupings, but the winds have leveled two of these and all that are now standing are the barn skeleton and the log house.

The house had been provided with an attic over the second floor and stands there as solid as the day its massive log sidings were thrown up. There were two huge white poplars in what had once been the dooryard, giving some idea as to the age of the residence. We scraped about a bit, hoping to turn up a piece of antique glass, but had no luck.

Soon after leaving this interesting old homestead, we were riding a narrow roadway along a large stream much favored by bass fishermen. To the left, across the stream, the hill side showed a glint of blue and we stopped the car to gaze upon the largest station of Virginia bluebells we have yet discovered. I waded across and found the plants were in two huge clusters covering a combined area several square rods in extent.

Trilliums were everywhere the terrain was favorable. Both the showy white fellow and the reddish sessile trillium were at peak bloom. We followed the side roads on the return journey and stopped along the way to see how the wild hyacinth colony was coming along. While visiting this colony I discovered a new flower. The blooms are a cluster of blue bells hanging above compound leaves, arranged feather-fashion. A check-up revealed a jaw-breaking scientific name and the common name blue bell, which is quite descriptive.

MURDER TRIAL CONTINUES FOR DUQUESNE YOUTH

PITTSBURGH, May 8.—(INS)—The trial of Bernard Hazdik, 20, of Duquesne, charged with the fatal stabbing of Charles Poljak, 21, of McKeesport, continued today in criminal court.

On the stand yesterday, Hazdik claimed the death of Poljak at the bar in a Duquesne club last Sept. 15 was entirely accidental. Poljak suffered a fatal wound in the neck, inflicted by a broken beer glass in the hand of Hazdik.

Hazdik was exonerated by a coroner's jury which found the death to be accidental. Later, the victim's father filed murder charges against Hazdik.

Ontario Premier Lashes Communist Actions In Canada

OTTAWA, Ont., May 8.—(INS)—Premier George Drew of Ontario, lashed out anew at Communism Wednesday with the charge that Communists and fellow-travelers are striving for a Soviet Canada more closely allied with Russia than Moscow's neighboring states.

He quoted "steps to power," a Communistic publication with urged Dominion Communists to "lead workers to a Soviet Canada."

The premier said it is imperative that every Canadian who believes in democracy watch out for any poisoning of the public mind. Drew explained that many Communists have drawn a veil of respectability around their shoulders by calling themselves labor-progressives, and in organizing units which have no apparent connection with Moscow.

He again urged immediate steps to halt Communism in the Dominion and recommended legislation to make it illegal in Canada.

Testifies May Used 'Pressure' For War Contracts

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(INS)—The army's wartime chief of ordnance testified Wednesday that ex-Congressman May (D) Ky., put "pressure" on him to get war contracts for the Garsson munitions combine.

The witness, Maj. Gen. Levin H. Campbell, made the disclosure while undergoing cross-examination by Defense Attorney Warren Magee at the May-Garsson conspiracy trial.

The name of Secretary of War Patterson was brought into the trial in connection with ex-Rep. May's wartime efforts to get an Army-Navy "E" award for a firm in the Garsson munitions combine. Patterson was mentioned in a transcript of a May, 1945 telephone conversation between the Congressman, then chairman of the House Military Committee, and Gen. Campbell.

Earlier, under Magee's questioning, Campbell testified that he had "quite a few" call from Congressmen and Senators pertaining to war contracts during his four years as head of the ordnance department.

Expect To Have Half Million Radio 'Hams' On Air By 1950

ATLANTA, Ga.—(INS)—Atlanta hams—the short wave variety—have increased from a couple of hundred in 1940 to more than 500. In fact, hams are on the upswing all over the country.

If you don't believe it, flip your radio dial over the short wave band and give a listen. You'll find the air is full of hams—sometimes referred to as amateur radio station operators. More enthusiasts are enlisting in the popular "CQ" ranks every day.

55,000 Enthusiasts
Before the war about 55,000 amateurs piled the airways in this country. But the day after Pearl Harbor, Dec. 8, 1941, the Federal Communications Commission stepped in and cleared the airways to prevent interference with military broadcasts.

When the war ended, the FCC began lifting restrictions on the amateurs. Already the 55,000 figure has been doubled and officials estimate by the end of 1950 at least a half million will be on the air in the U. S.

The postwar expansion has developed many female amateurs. The congenial hams accept the women operators as part of the game, but as yet—for all their tricky lingo—no suitable name has been developed for the female amateurs.

Operators Are Hams
In short wave circles, a licensed operator is a ham, regardless of sex. He (or she) is welcome on the air with only a sending and receiving set, a Federal license, a call letter, and a "handle." The handle is a nickname by which the amateur identifies himself along with the call letter.

The hams say you can go into amateur radio with a drawing capital of $50, or $500 so long as you can pass the FCC examination and lowed to do this providing a licensed operator signs on, keeps his log properly and signs off.

About the only restrictions on the amateur are that he stay on the prescribed wave length, refrain from using profane language and keep a proper log.

PITTSBURGH, May 8.—(INS)—Mrs. Toma H. Layne, a Pittsburgh mail clerk, wanted to see the Ice Follies of 1947, but instead faces possible incarceration in a federal jail.

A Federal grand jury today returned an indictment against her, charging theft of a letter while she was at work in the post office, containing two tickets to the ice show early last March.

New Roof Paint Nullifies Heat

NEW YORK.—(INS)—This is the story of "The Egg and Ice Cream."

Heroine is blonde Lana Robie, hard-working cover girl and photographer's model who, to keep up the installments on her Beverly Hills swimming pool, is picking up a few extra dollars frying eggs—one at a time, every hour on the hour, eight hours a day.

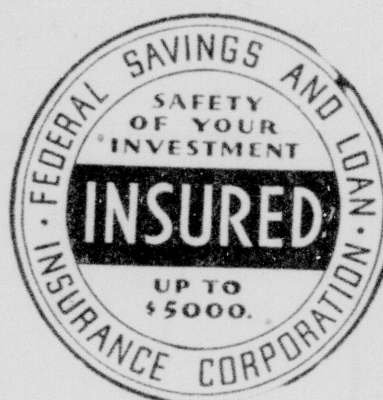

Dramatically, lovely Lana breaks an egg in a frying pan and sets it on the roof of a model building. The crowd cheers and clamors for her phone number as a battery of powerful lamps are trained on the roof, and attention is called to a big dish of ice cream resting within the structure.

Egg Fries in Six Minutes
Within less than six minutes, the egg is fried to a frazzle. But the ice cream, cold and aloof, does not melt.

How come? Roof of the building is treated with a new gilsonite aluminum roof paint called Gilsalume which the National Bureau of Standards says reflects 70 per cent of the sun's heat rays and reduces indoor summertime temperatures as much as 15 degrees.

Lana and the heat-bouncing gilsonite aluminum paint were exhibited at the Grand Central Palace in New York.

Claims Report On Coal Mining Towns Distorted

Navy's "Boone Report"
Cites Exceptional Cases
Says Coal Group
Official

PITTSBURGH, May 8.—(INS)—An interesting angle to the navy's recent "Boone report" on living conditions in coal mining towns, is a comparison with living conditions as a whole throughout the nation.

John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, pointed out the comparison in his response to the navy report on behalf of the coal operators.

Battle explained that the examples of poor housing and lack of sanitation as cited in the Boone report are not typical of the average mining community. The report itself makes no claim that the conditions are typical, he added.

He declared that an industry survey showed that more than 65 per cent of the nation's 400,000 bituminous miners own their homes or rent from private individuals, and "no more than one-third of the miners live in company-owned houses."

Battle asserted that "The slum conditions depicted by the report in isolated mining camps are the exception, not the rule—and can be duplicated in dozens of other big cities."

He explained that while "many houses in small mining communities" have outside toilets, this specific example is true of 35 per cent of all homes in the nation. He added:

Streets and Water
"Furthermore, the absence of paved streets and hydrant water, is the same state of affairs found in thousands of rural towns."

"It is a fact that, if the comparison is made of rural community life for the country as a whole, conditions in the coal mining towns for the most part are now on a par with, and in many instances, above those in other communities."

To further emphasize his contention, Battle cited figures of the last U.S. census which show that 30 per cent of the nation's homes have no running water, 30 per cent no bathtub or shower, 21 per cent no electricity, 21 per cent have three rooms or less, and 27 per cent have no refrigeration.

In reference to medical and hospital care, the bituminous industry's survey revealed that 65 per cent of soft coal miners were protected by prepaid medical care or hospital insurance, or both, during the year 1945. The national average for all individuals was 15 per cent, Battle declared.

Early in February, 1946, several large sunspots, large enough to be seen through smoked glass, caused shortwave radio broadcasts to be slackened out. The sunspot group was the largest on record, covering an area of about 6,000,000 square miles.

Talents Of Many Children Remain Secret, Untapped

Present School System Does Not Bring Out Best, Professor
States

STATE COLLEGE, May 8.—Many school children in this country have talents that are never found nor developed.

Dr. William S. Vincent, professor of education at the Pennsylvania State College, points out that it is impossible to draw out the talents of all our future citizens as long as we regard our schools as part-time institutions.

But when Dr. Vincent advocates longer days, a longer week, and a longer year for our boys and girls, he is envisioning a much broader kind of program than may generally be found in our schools.

Science clubs, art clubs, broader athletic programs, recreation, and other forms of entertainment, summer camps, hiking, swimming, and even part-time employment, might all come under the school program, Dr. Vincent says.

"Education should not be confined to sitting at a desk and absorbing information from books alone," Dr. Vincent explains. "But the school should be concerned with drawing out all of the talents of every boy and girl for doing the thousands of things that need to be done to keep our civilization going."

If a broader program were instituted, school costs actually would rise. But if the American people could see the benefits to be derived by bringing out the full talents of just one generation of school children, the public would consider the cost of little concern, Dr. Vincent believes.

For every Sir Isaac Newton, Thomas Edison, or Carolus Linnaeus who, by some chance, was able to develop his full talents himself, there are probably dozens of others who with help might have done as well, according to the Penn State educator.

Ill-Fitting Shoes Blamed As Cause Of Many Accidents

CHICAGO, May 8.—(INS)—For years women have been hearing wisecracks from men about their bad driving and other accidents. Today they had the opinion of two safety experts that they are responsible for "a lot" of mishaps.

The two experts were speakers before the 24th annual Midwest Safety Council meeting in Chicago.

Dr. Joseph M. Valenza, a Chicago foot specialist, charged that 30 per cent of accidents are due to people wearing ill-fitting shoes, and added: "Women use style as their God. And as a result many physical disorders found in women can be attributed to stylish shoes."

Harold P. Lillie, head of the Lansing, Mich., Safety Council, blamed the leisurely life created by household gadgets and mothers' disregard of safety warnings for much of the nation's increased accident rate. Lillie said:

"That gives them more time for outdoors and on the highways where they can meet up with accidents."

"At school children have safety lessons drummed into their ears, but on Saturday mother rushes them downtown, jaywalks them across streets, and rushes them ahead of street cars, buses and automobiles."

STRIKE IS ENDED

CHICAGO, May 8.—(INS)—The Inland Steel company announced the strike which has shut down its plant since April 30 ended Wednesday.

President Wilfred Sykes of the steel company said that company and union representatives signed a contract terminating the walkout this morning.

He added that provisions of the contract "are slightly more generous than those set in the industry-wide pattern."

Stamp Club Exhibits Ready For Display

Thursday evening, members of the New Castle Stamp Club will bring their assembled exhibits to the regular meeting of the club to be held in the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock.

The club members have been assembling their individual displays at home and will combine the units at the Thursday meeting. The public display of the stamps will take place beginning Friday, May 16, and will continue for one week at the downtown Post Office and the Pennsylvania Power Company windows.

In connection with the Philatelic

Week which will be celebrated in New York during the week of May 17 to 25, a number of the local club members will be going to New York to attend the exhibition. The celebration will be in honor of the issuance of the first postage stamp in U. S. in 1847.

During the Thursday evening meeting, the president, John Hitch, announces that an auction of stamps will take place.

R.R. Brotherhoods Seek Reopening Of Negotiations

Moratorium Established During Strike Of Year Ago Expires May 25

CLEVELAND, May 8.—(INS)—Operating railroad brotherhoods in Cleveland confirmed today that a request has been made of representatives of the nation's class 1 railroads for the reopening of working rules discussions in Chicago as soon as possible after May 25.

Refusal of carriers to accede to working rules changes touched off the paralyzing rail strike a year ago. A year-long presidential moratorium has held in check the demands spearheaded by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Locomotive Engineers.

Moratorium Expires May 25
The moratorium expires May 25 and the fiery leader of the B.R.T., Alexander F. Whitney, again is leading the fight for adoption of rule changes.

No official announcement was made by the group of five brotherhoods on the request of the carriers and Whitney declined to comment on the letter sent to three railway organizations, the eastern, western and southeastern carriers conference committees.

Joining the B.R.T. and the B.L.E. in the renewed fight for changes in some 100 working rules are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and Order of Railway Conductors and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

The three carriers conference committees represent 92 of the nation's class 1 railroads. The brotherhoods' request was not directed to 77 short lines, but their representatives are expected to participate in the Chicago conference, if and when it is called.

SHIP IN DISTRESS OFF PUERTO RICO

NEW YORK, May 8.—(INS)—The Coast Guard said today that it had received a message from an unidentified ship through the Mackay Radio that it was in distress off Kingston, Puerto Rico.

The ship gave only its call letters "SHEA" and the operator asked that an order to "abandon ship" had been issued.

The Dominican Republic contains deposits of silver, platinum, copper, iron, salt, coal and petroleum, but the mining industry is undeveloped.

Study Traffic Conditions In City

About six months ago, Mayor John F. Haven appointed a Traffic Study committee to study conditions in New Castle and make recommendations to city council.

Since then the committee has met periodically, considered traffic hazards, and has made many recommendations to council, a number of which have been put into effect.

Some traffic lights have been installed at intersections the committee felt was necessary, parking has been restricted on one side of streets where a hazard was set up by parking on both sides, and a traffic flow study is under way.

The committee is composed of business men who are in touch with transportation problems, plus Police Chief Robert D. Hanna and Policeman Clarence F. Welsh.

GOOD PASTURES HOLD MILK PRODUCTION

Dairy herds in Lawrence county need not slump in milk production in the summer months if good pastures are provided. Usually this will require some change of plans, but is profitable because of the improved production in the fall and winter.

Most dairy herds get enough feed from pasture during the spring and early summer. As pasture grasses slow down in their rate of growth, cows often go hungry and production drops. For this reason every farm needs one or more fields of grasses which continue to grow in hot weather.

A number of Lawrence county farmers have mixtures of Orchard grass and Ladino clover. They make hay or grass silage early in June, then graze the second growth. This combination, or similar ones, when properly managed, is the most economical means of feeding the dairy herd in the summer months.

On farms where such mixtures are not available, Sudan grass can provide a temporary pasture to maintain milk production. Sudan grass, when sown in a warm soil about May 25 to June 1, will provide plenty of feed within six weeks. Francis Martin, North Beaver township, used Sudan grass last year and found it very satisfactory.

College Student's Case Near Jury

Former U. Of M. Student's Trial
Near Conclusion At Ann Arbor, Mich.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 8.—(INS)—The fate of Glenn A. Whittle, 21-year-old Chicago college student charged with the assault of a former U. of M. coed will be placed in the hands of a circuit court jury today.

Defense Attorney John W. Rae rested his case last night after Whittle had been cross-examined for three and one-half hours.

The young Army veteran was charged by Patricia Ann Brighion of Dearborn, Mich., with criminally attacking her on January 16 following a private steak and beer party. The pretty blonde claims Whittle dragged her into the back seat of his car and attacked her after threatening her life.

The Chicago youth stubbornly denied Patricia's allegations and insisted that she submitted to his intimacies without protest. He told the jury of nine men and three women of a "necking session" which preceded the alleged attack and insisted that Patricia did not protest.

Final evidence presented by Prosecutor Douglas K. Reading included a small black address book Whittle identified as his own. The former physical education student said it contained the names of 64 girls.

Defense Attorney Rae moved for a mistrial—which was denied—when Reading declared the address book was "evidence of a degenerate."

In the days of the Mayflower, only the people who belonged to the class of gentlemen in England, ministers, physicians, and their wives were entitled to the prefix Mr. and Mrs. to their names. If a man or woman was below the condition of gentility, but above that of a servant, the title used by way of address was "goodman" or "goodwife."

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Schools Offer Driving Lessons To Curb Accidents

CHICAGO, May 8.—(INS)—An increasing number of public schools are offering automobile driving courses according to the American Public Works Association in a drive to curb traffic accidents which killed 33,500 U. S. citizens last year and injured 1,150,000 others.

Current statistics indicate that the number of schools offering classroom instructions in driving increased 700 per cent during the past decade. The National Education Association reports that more than 440 out of 2,196 schools surveyed offer some type of driving training.

In Cleveland, 11 of the city's high schools now teach driving to a total of some 1,300 students annually. The instruction constitutes a regular one-credit course. Each school has a special dual-control training car. Classroom work is carried on simultaneously with road training.

Extensive Training Program
Chicago's Lane Technical High school also has an extensive driver-training program. Dummy cars used right in the classroom enable students to form definite habits in using the controls and to develop a sense of timing. After a semester of classroom instruction, training is given on the road in real autos.

Small cities teach driving, too. In Dubuque, Iowa, a unique program of driving instruction is provided through cooperation of the high school, police department, safety council, and automobile club. Instruction is given to all age groups—a recent class graduated from the eight-week course including students ranging from 15 to 65 years old.

Coupled with classroom instruction, the Dubuque driving course involves road training on a special pattern of streets barricaded for driving practice only. Flood lights illuminate the area sufficiently for night instruction. Three training cars are used simultaneously to instruct students in the elements of traffic driving.

In North Dakota, all high-school students are now required to pass an examination in driver education before graduation. In Wisconsin, the number of high schools offering classroom courses in driving has more than doubled since 1942, with 80 per cent of the schools now giving such instruction.

PAYMENTS TO VETERANS
HARRISBURG, May 8.—(INS)—State Treasurer Ramsey S. Black today reported benefits totaling $1,143,701 were paid to 56,660 veterans during the week ended April 30 while payments amounting to $1,302,769 were made to 77,518 unemployed civilians.

The previous week's disbursements were $1,977,201 to former service men and $1,385,509 to jobless civilians, he added.

Early explorers of the Amazon believed the aquatic mammal, the manatee, to be a mermaid. It measures from six to eight feet in length and sometimes weighs as much as a ton.

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa., May 8.—(INS)—Mrs. J. Stewart Williams of Kingston, held election today as president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs meeting in 50th annual convention.

Other officers elected included: Dr. Carrie Jones Schaaf, of Erie, first vice president at large; Mrs. J. B. Stillwell, of Prospect Park, second vice president at large; Mrs. Leroy J. Koehler, of Stroudsburg, vice president Northeast District.

Mrs. Howard B. F. Davis, of Chester, vice president Southeast; Mrs. A. G. Barrett, of Connersport, vice president North-Central; Mrs. M. Melvin Stewart, of Harrisburg, vice president South-Central.

Women's Clubs Of State Officially Approve New Bills

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa., May 8.—(INS)—Equal rights legislation and measures to outlaw the closed shop held the official approval of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs today.

Support for the pending bills was voted at the federation's 50th annual convention after a day of lively debate among the 1000 delegates.

The women also adopted resolutions favoring legislation which would make labor equally responsible with management before the courts. They backed compulsory arbitration to curb strikes, too.

Pennsylvania's club women then went on record for admission of increased numbers of displaced persons into the United States and compulsory application for citizenship by foreigners after one year's residence.

Mrs. J. L. Blair Buck of Richmond, Va., declared that the United States must build an atomic bomb stockpile until the United Nations can control international armaments. She is first vice president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Rep. Earl E. Mundi, of South Dakota, warned against careless support by Americans of communist-front organizations. He stressed that "if we are going to stop communism abroad, we must stop it here."

"Ain't That Just Like a Woman?"

"Mam'selle! Why are you crying?" asked Nick. "Your cheeks are like roses in the rain and tears have washed away your smile. I believe you're crying for sentimental reasons, my melancholy baby."

"Gee, baby, ain't I good to you? Has my fickle eye caused you heartaches and started those April showers? If I'm guilty, honey, I'm sorry I made you cry. If it's love you want, baby, that's me! There is no greater love than my devotion for you. . . ."

"So don't be a baby, baby . . . smile and drive your blues away. Life can be beautiful, so forgive and forget and come to baby, do . . . Remember, you can't see the sun when you're crying."

"Nicholas, don't be ridiculous!" she answered. "Who do you think you are the sheik of Araby? These tears are not for you. Why should I cry over you?"

"Next time I'll close my eyes when I peel onions!"

Appeal Dismissed Of Police Chief At Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 8.—(INS)—A petition appealing the dismissal of Andrew J. McDewitt as Johnstown's police chief was filed Wednesday in the Cambria county courts.

The petition charged that ousted police chief's dismissal was unjust, illegal and contrary to evidence. It requested the court to hear charges against McDewitt in full and render judgment in accordance with the evidence.

McDewitt was discharged a month ago by the city council on charges of misconduct in office, and failure to maintain discipline and efficiency in the police department.

During World War II the number of people employed by class I U. S. railroads rose from about 1,000,000 to about 1,420,000.

Gives Reasons For WAA 'Purge'

Littlejohn Fired Employees
Because They Had Financial Interests In Sales

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(INS)—WAA Administrator Robert M. Littlejohn disclosed that a number of his agency's employees were fired because they had financial interests in private firms buying surplus property.

Littlejohn told the Senate Executive Expenditures Committee that the firings resulted from a survey of every WAA employee after he found "unsavory things happening among those close to me and the administration."

He also testified that Housing Expediter Frank R. Creedon resigned from his former post in WAA after his work was found "unsatisfactory."

Littlejohn declared many instances were uncovered by the survey of WAA employees having some financial interest in private firms dealing for surplus goods.

He said he had no record of the number fired, but added that "they came in every day."

Littlejohn was called to the stand to testify on a WAA "stop" order halting the sale to civilians of machine tools at the Curtis-Wright plant, Lockland, Ohio.

He denied any knowledge or part in the firing of Morton M. Boyd, former deputy administrator for general disposal. Boyd was dismissed from WAA April 29, the evening of the day he testified before the Senate committee investigating the Lockland plant sale.

May Day Pageant To Be Presented At G. Washington

Girls of the physical education classes of George Washington junior high school will present their annual May Day pageant on May 11 at 2 o'clock. This spring program in which over one hundred and fifty girls take part will be held in the gymnasium.

Miss Ann Meehan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Meehan, was voted May Queen by the ninth graders on May 6. Her four attendants will be Karole Davies, Dorothy Knittel, Norma Pearce and Rose Ann Zeigler.

M And D Club Plans Annual Dinner Dance

At a recent meeting held in the M and D club rooms, plans were laid for the second annual dinner dance of the organization to be held on June 22 at a suburban inn. Co-chairmen of the affair for this year will be Albert Valletti and Carmen Smarelli, assisted by Ralph Martone, Aldo Gaimarini, Jose Godang, Louis Melito and Fred Smarelli. With the return of all the service men, it is anticipated that the function will attract much enthusiasm.

A special meeting will be held the latter part of May to alter and complete final plans.

SPRINGDALE WILL LOSE 33 OF THEIR SCHOOL TEACHERS

PITTSBURGH, May 8.—(INS)—Suburban Springdale will have to do a lot of shopping around for school teachers this summer.

A poll of the school district's teachers today revealed that 33 of them—79 per cent of the entire staff—will not return to Springdale next fall.

Some have accepted higher paying jobs in other districts and some are entering fields different from the teaching profession.

The Springdale school board recently failed to provide for pay raises for teachers in its 1947-48 budget.

Record Session In British House Of Commons Ends

LONDON, May 8.—(INS)—The British House of Commons recessed today after 21 hours and 17 minutes of a continuous session, breaking the record for the present parliament.

The session was occupied with numerous clauses of the peace-time military conscription bill.

Conservatives made several efforts to adjourn the House during the night, complaining it was not necessary to complete the discussion immediately.

Defense Minister A. V. Alexander was adamant in insisting that the discussion continue.

Many Yawn

The chamber was still well filled this morning with the members stifling yawns and a number of back-benchers learning back, eyes closed, nodding their heads as the debate continued.

Last night Commons adopted a government motion to reduce the period of conscription from 18 to 12 months. The vote was 368 to 17.

Alexander said the sudden decision to reduce the period was based on the nation's economic position and on a survey of actual defense needs.

Before the vote, Winston Churchill assailed the decision to reduce the service period but pledged the support of the Conservatives.

Soviet Announces Two More Mailbags Lost In New York

LONDON, May 8.—(INS)—The Soviet News Agency Tass declared today that two more Russian diplomatic mail pouches have been lost under strange circumstances at the New York custom house.

Tass added that "inquiries into these 'strange' losses have proved futile."

The agency's statement said: "Out of 29 cases shipped by the Soviet foreign ministry to Soviet representatives at the United Nations in America by steamer only 27 were released."

On a previous occasion, out of 19 cases shipped on the steamer Gogol addressed to the Soviet consulate general only 15 were handed out.

State Dog Law To Be Enforced Throughout Year

Slump In Rabies Cases Prompts State To Continue Strict Enforcement

HARRISBURG, May 8.—With the occurrence of rabies in Pennsylvania reduced during the first three months of 1947 to 60 per cent of the same period last year, State Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst says that strict enforcement of the State dog law will continue throughout the year.

For the first quarter of 1947 more stray dogs have been destroyed, more prosecutions have been made for dog law violations and more dogs have been licensed than for the comparable period last year, the secretary declared.

There has been an unusually sharp decline so far this year in the number of rabies cases found in Pennsylvania compared with the past three years, he reported. For the year 1944 an all-time record of 902 positive cases of rabies was recorded by the Bureau of Animal Industry. In 1945 this dropped to 846 and last year the total was down to 503. Only 93 cases were reported for the first three months of this year compared with 152 last year and 179 in 1945. During March this year 22 cases compared with 51 for March 1946 and 70 for the same month in 1945.

During January and February of this year the Department instituted 650 prosecutions for violation of the dog law compared with 269 for the same period last year. Dogs disposed of by officers during the first quarter of 1947 totaled 8,451 against 6,900 for the same period in 1946.

Soon Will Ship Towboats, Barges To Argentinians

PITTSBURGH, May 8.—(INS)—Three twin-screw towboats and 14 river barges soon will be moving from Pittsburgh down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and across the Gulf of Mexico for delivery in Argentina.

The Dravo Corp. of Pittsburgh announced that Argentinian river transportation firms had ordered two new 1,000-horsepower towboats, four steel deck barges and 10 cargo barges for use on the Parana, Uruguay and Paraguay rivers.

In addition, the Dravo Corp.'s 760-horsepower twin-screw towboat Victory has been purchased outright and will be sent to South America as soon as arrangements are made for the trip.

The modern "curfew" is derived from couvre-feu (cover fire), a term used in the Middle Ages for the bell signaling the time when peasants were required to cover their fires.

NEW CASTLE, PA.Politics Clash
Hobbling Basic
Economic PlansSenator Says Congress
Watching Political Calendar
Instead of ProblemBy LILLIAN GREENWALD
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Clashing political considerations will prevent the current Congress from agreeing on a basic statement of economic principles for the nation.

This prediction was made by Sen. Sparkman (D) Ala., member of the joint congressional committee appointed to study the President's report on the economic state of the nation and draw up a program for the Congress.

Sparkman commented that "too many people are too busy looking at the political calendar instead of the economic prospects."

The Alabama Democrat, who came to the Senate with a background of years of legislative experience in the House added that he did not see how there could be sufficient agreement in the committee, if it tries to write a general statement, to make the results worth while.

He said: "We might be able to agree that prices are too high but I doubt if we can get together on the reasons and the cure."

Raps Taft Group

Sparkman criticized the group under the chairmanship of Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, for failing in the basic task of educating its members and through them the Congress on national economic trends.

He declared that to carry out the purposes of the congressional reorganization act under which it is set up the committee should meet regularly and carry on a continuing study of the problem before it.

Sen. Flanders (R) Vt., meanwhile forecast that it would be at least three weeks before the full committee gets down to the job of starting to write a statement of principles.

Flanders is chairman of a subcommittee, scheduled to meet today to write a questionnaire for the nation's business, labor and agricultural leaders.

Three Weeks To Approve

He said it would take at least three weeks before the questionnaire is approved by the full committee, sent out, the answers received, studied and analyzed.

Flanders was formerly head of the committee for economic development, an organization of business men. He was more hopeful that the point committee would write an economic statement to supplement that of President Truman.

He said he found "no more disagreement" than would be "normal" for any group with diverse ideas getting together for the first time on an important subject.

LAWRENCE
FURNITURE STORE
Long Ave. At Jefferson St.Strange World Seen
As Blind Woman
Regains Her Sight

CLEVELAND, O., May 8.—The brilliant color of an orange is a startling thing to Mrs. Daisy Searles, who has sight now, through a medical miracle for the first time in her 42 years.

Nineteen years ago an eye specialist told her that some day science would find a way to give her sight.

Recently at the clinic for the Society for the Blind, Dr. Charles I. Thomas—one of perhaps 15 eye surgeons in the country able to do it—grafted little cubes of clear corneal tissue into the eyes of Mrs. Searles. The tiny lock of tissue, one-sixth of an inch square, have given to Mrs. Searles what can be given to very few of the blind. One of the reasons so few can be helped similarly is because corneas are hard to obtain.

Mrs. Searles peeks at the new world now through her miraculous little windows and finds it an astonishing place.

Three of Dr. Thomas' fingers were the first things she saw after the delicate operation, and then the glare of the window. What she saw was hazy, and it hasn't all cleared yet.

Mrs. Searles found some things look the way they feel and sound, and others do not.

She's delighted with seeing for the first time her three grown children, all of whom have good vision, and her husband, Roy, 47, who is partly blind. Her 23-year-old son, an Air Corps mechanic, looks huge to his mother.

"I thought people would be easy," she said, "but they aren't. There are so many different types, and I can't help looking at them as they get on the street cars, and yet I'm afraid they will think I am staring."

She likes blond people best, but doesn't like to look into mirrors much yet.

"The first thing I saw when I looked into a mirror was my nose, and it looked very big," she said with a laugh. "But then I started looking at other people's noses, and they all look about the same as mine."

Local Young Woman
Honored In LondonMiss Jane Patchell Passes Audition
First Class; Enters Guildhall
College Of Music

According to word received from Mrs. William Patchell of 407 Elizabeth street, who, with her daughter Jane, has been visiting for about a year in Wales, Jane has received musical honors.

Miss Patchell received an audition at the Guildhall College of Music and Drama, in London, England, in March, and passed first class. She entered on April 28th, as a full curriculum student, and will study voice and piano.

Jane's voice teacher will be Prof. Vaughn Tremayne who will teach the continental style of singing. Prof. Tremayne was a pupil of the famous basso, now appearing at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York City. There are over 500 awaiting entry to the college, with few vacancies. Several American G. I.s are attending the college.

Miss Patchell was scheduled to sing at "The Great Hall," Westminster, in the London festival on May 5. Jane is a graduate of New Castle high school, and took a music course for one semester, at Westminster College here. Before leaving for Wales she was employed by the government in the Pentagon building, Washington, D. C.

Last Striking
Phone Union In Illinois Signs

CHICAGO, May 8.—(INS)—The Illinois phase of the nationwide telephone strike was completely settled today when the last striking union signed an agreement with the Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

Details of the settlement between the company and the Illinois Telephone traffic union were not immediately available.

Two other striking unions recently accepted a $4-weekly wage increase offered by the company.

The settlement with the ITTU was announced by Federal Conciliator William G. Murray after the 108th negotiating session.

He said the agreement had been signed by the company and union, contingent upon ratification by the 11,000 ITTU members.

GIRL SCOUTS

Scout Council Meets

Regular meeting of the Girl Scout council was held in the Scout office on May 6 with Mrs. Paul Forey, Girl Scout Commissioner, in charge.

Miss Mildred Lusk, who is camp director for the 1947 season, reported progress in the camp plan. She suggested that anyone who is interested in acting as camp counselor, assistant cook or water front instructor should contact the Girl Scout office. The deadline for New Castle registration has been set for June 10.

Mrs. William Comstock and Mrs. Clement Clausen were elected to serve as new members on the council.

Mrs. Wayne Stitzinger announced there would be an evening party on May 12 at the Epworth Methodist church at 8 p. m. All past and present leaders, council members and committee members are invited.

Mrs. Harry Wettich concluded the meeting with an interesting report from the program committee.

SMALL WORLD

ABERDEEN, Wash.—(INS)—A tipsy driver couldn't have picked a worse target than the car he bumped when it stopped at an intersection. In the car were the mayor and five council members of a special street rehabilitation committee.

Report Emphasizes Teacher Shortage

CARBONDALE, Ill., May 8.—(INS)—The drastic shortage of teachers was emphasized in a report released from Southern Illinois university at Carbondale which stated that only 273 out of 2,600 possible teaching positions were filled by the school's placement service last year.

The report pointed out that 79 per cent of teacher-candidates graduated from the college of education ten years ago entered the teaching profession compared with only 59 per cent last year.

Average salaries for 1946 graduates who were placed in teaching jobs were $1,972.11 for inexperienced and $2,133.35 for experienced in high schools and $1,685.92 inexperienced and $1,870.86 for experienced in elementary schools.

O'Neal May Be Named Successor
To Paul V. McNutt

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(INS)—Responsible official sources indicated today that Emmett O'Neal, former Democratic Congressman from Kentucky, will succeed Paul V. McNutt as U. S. Ambassador to the Philippine Republic.

O'Neal, a late starter in the race for the Pacific post, is said to have been approved by President Truman. It was noted that the candidate was a guest last night at a dinner held by Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson for Philippine Vice President Elpidio Quirino.

It was stated reliably, however, that McNutt has not yet submitted his resignation to the President and any final decision on an appointment has been deferred pending this action.

Other prominently mentioned candidates have included Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, famed Philippine defender; Oscar L. Chapman, Interior Department undersecretary; William Paulley, former Presidential representative; Warren Coy, former Filipino rehabilitation commissioner, and James M. Mead, former Democratic Senator from New York.

"Towels are whiter,
softer"

"How do you honestly feel about this product?"

That's what housewives were asked after they had tested the new, quicker-action Climalene for their laundry. A typical answer was, "My towels washed cleaner and whiter than usual... bath towels were softer, even hanging inside."

Climalene makes soap go lots further, too.

Plastics Industry Ready To Live Up To Publicity

PLASTICS INDUSTRY READY
By ELIZABETH FAIRBAIN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, May 8—For years the plastics industry has been promising great things.

All told, the public waited impatiently for the plastic era to dawn and trumpets of over-zealous heralds didn't help matters much.

But today things are different.

The plastics industry says it can produce the goods.

What's more it can equip a person "from the cradle to the grave," from "head to toe" and horizons are "unlimited."

At the National Plastics Exposition, opening today at Chicago's Coliseum, more than 142 American and Canadian firms have spread their wares.

For short trip between the "cradle and grave" there's the laminated baby crib, a one piece job made out of lucite, a transparent material which permits sight of the baby at all times.

As for the coffin, it would be hard to tell it from its steel predecessor. The colors and construction are the same and its makers claim "it lasts as long or longer" as the others.

Both items are described as products of low-pressure molding, a relatively new phase of the industry.

Other things to titillate the imagination of the consumer are plastic musical instruments, molded nylon dishes, plastic draperies which are resistant to sudden rains pouring through the windows, dress material which is wrinkle, stain and waterproof and shrinkage-controlled, and plastic furniture which can be knocked around and cleaned easily.

Endless List

For that matter, the list could go on endlessly.

One industry representative with a trace of smugness in his voice said:

"We've covered things like a blanket."

And he hastily assured, "these aren't rosy promises. Everything we have on display is on the market."

There were shoes, bags, belts, shot-gun handles, golf club heads, piano keys, clocks, printing ink, a glue which cannot be affected by changes in humidity and temperature, bowling pin, duck decoys and hundreds of other items.

Politicians Are Rather 'Touchy'

Have Antipathy To Criticism Real Or Fancied—Latest Example In State

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, May 8—(INS)—One of the strangest characteristics of many politicians through the years has been their antipathy to criticism, real or fancied. . . . House Minority Leader Hiram G. Andrews, of Johnstown, was the latest to demonstrate this. . . . A reporter for a Harrisburg newspaper wrote a story stating that Andrews voted one way on an amendment while the minority leader claimed he had voted another way. . . . The day after the story appeared, Andrews stood on the floor of the House and bitterly assailed the newspaperman in the most personal terms. . . . He followed the usual line and complained he had been libeled. . . . Chief Clerk William Habbysaw would not permit the reporter to see the official roll call on the amendment for unexplained reasons. . . . Andrews did not ask Habbysaw to open the record to inspection.

U. S. Sen. Edward Martin was stepped into the controversy surrounding establishment of a coal research laboratory in the anthracite fields. . . . The House approved the laboratory and it was expected to be erected near Hazleton. . . . Later Cong. Ivor Fenton (R) of Pottsville pulled enough strings to have it switched to Schuylkill Haven. . . . A disagreement over the location prompted Congress to pigeonhole the proposal. . . . Martin said he would ask the Senate to reconsider the bill.

Visitors walking into the State House of Representatives a few days ago shortly after the chamber had recessed for the day were somewhat dumbfounded to be confronted with music. . . . Between six and eight Assemblymen had gathered around several desks near the rear of the ornate chamber and were singing, in lusty voices, of the "Little Home in the West" and other nostalgic ballads. . . . The vocal interlude was short-lived as colleagues summoned the singers to a caucus.

Speaker of the House Franklin H. Lichtenwalter has been following the traditions of his predecessors and has been calling upon both Republican and Democratic members to preside over the Lower Chamber. . . . Among lawmakers who presided was Rep. Jeanette M. Dye (R) Mercer, one of the two women House members. . . . To Rep. Earl E. Hewitt, Sr., (R) Indiana, went the honor of presiding for the shortest time. . . . Only one bill was on the first reading calendar when Hewitt was summoned to the rostrum. . . . Lichtenwalter, in introducing Hewitt, said that the Indiana Countian was the only Assemblyman who was a member of a Pennsylvania State College football team to defeat the Army. . . . Hewitt, according to Lichtenwalter, was a member of the 1903 Penn State team which defeated the Cadets. . . . Hewitt heads the important mines and mining committee which has been investigating safety conditions at coal mines.

Plan To Study New Tax System For Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, May 8—(INS)—A commission to study a "more equitable and scientific" tax system for Pennsylvania Wednesday was proposed in a bill before the Senate Finance Committee. Sponsored by Sen. James A. Geltz (R) Allegheny, chairman, called for a survey of tax laws of Pennsylvania, other states and countries to determine a more satisfactory financing plan. A $100,000 appropriation was proposed to underwrite the study. The bill pointed out that the "existing tax structure of the Commonwealth has been developed on a piecemeal basis with the result that it lacks a scientific and equitable basis." It asserted the present taxing system "unduly burdens industrial enterprises," discouraging an immigration of industry into the state. The commission proposed to conduct the survey would be composed of the Secretary of Commerce acting as chairman and six other members, including two members each of the House and Senate. The output of fats and oils in the United States in the year beginning October, 1946, will be the smallest since 1939.

Locates 5,000 Empty Houses For Employees

KANSAS CITY, May 8—(INS)—So you think it's tough finding a place to live? Well, how would you like to scrounge around for houses, rooms and apartments for 5,000 co-workers besides yourself? Impossible? Miss Margaret Lienard, manager of Trans-World Airlines' Kansas City housing bureau didn't find it so. In fewer than four years of professional house-hunting she has found accommodations for 5,000 applicants. Locating "rooms" to go over the heads of other people has become an old story to Miss Lienard, who got the idea shortly after moving to Kansas City in April, 1943. She recalled:

Had A Job
"The only thing I had when I arrived in Kansas City was a job. 'That's fine,' I told my boss. But where do I go when the office closes—to a bench in the park? 'He shrugged his shoulders. Others suggested I might find sympathy in the dictionary.' That was a challenge to Miss Lienard. In two weeks she had an apartment. Many Pleas

Hundreds of pleas from less fortunate TWA employees fell upon Miss Lienard's shoulders. She then was secretary to the airline's assistant personnel director. At first she became a one-woman housing bureau in her spare time. The success of her winsome smile with landlords attracted the attention of TWA "higher ups." Three months later she was named full-time housing bureau manager for TWA employees. The north side of a hill produces more durable lumber than that grown on any other side.

Rugged Steer Victor In Highway Clash

OMAHA, Nebr., May 8.—When car meets livestock on the highway, it's often disastrous for the livestock. But the tables were turned by a two-year-old steer west of Omaha. A sedan driven by Sontas Gonzales tangled with the rugged bovine. Damage to the car: broken headlights, smashed bumper, grills, radiator, hood and fenders, and undetermined damage to the motor. Damage to the steer: minor cuts, a slight limp, and some hair scraped off.

The Struggle Against Baal

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

Elijah's sacrifice.

"He (Jehovah) will be with thee, He will not fail thee."—Deut. 31:8.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 11 is 1 Kings 16:29, II Kings 10, the Memory Verse being Deut. 31:8. "He (Jehovah) will be with thee, He will not fail thee.")

Ahab, son of Omri, king of Israel, was a wicked man and he "did evil in the sight of the Lord above all that were before him". His wife, Jezebel, was such a wicked woman that to this day we speak of a sinful woman as "a regular Jezebel". Under Jezebel's influence, Ahab built an altar to the heathen god Baal in a temple he built in Samaria.

The lesson is so very long and so many different stories are told in it, that only a small number of them may be related in the space assigned us. Elijah was the Lord's prophet during this time, and we do not know anything about his people. Because he dared tell the king he was wrong, and decreed that no water or dew would fall in Israel until he gave the word, he was forced to flee to the wilderness. God told him to hide by the brook Cherith, "that is before Jordan", and He would send ravens to feed him night and morning, and for drink he should have the water of the brook. When the water of the brook dried up, the Lord commanded him to go to Zarephath and dwell with a widow there.

Returns To Ahab
After three years Elijah was told to go back to Ahab and rain would be sent upon the earth. Elijah told Ahab to assemble the priests of Baal and all the people, and he did so and all met at Mt. Carmel. Elijah came to the people and said, "How long halt ye between two opinions? If the Lord be God, then follow Him. And the people answered him not a word."

Elijah told them he was the Lord's only prophet, but that Baal's numbered 450 men. He directed them to take two bullocks, cut them in pieces, one to be given to Baal's prophets and one to him. The Baal priests were to put their bullock on wood but no fire was to be used. They were to call on their god to send fire to consume the sacrifice. He would do likewise and see who was the most powerful, Baal or the Lord.

The Baal prophets called aloud to Baal from morning until noon, but without results, and Elijah mocked them. At even Elijah rebuilt the altar of the Lord and laid the sacrifice upon it, then he had men pour water over it four times, so that even the trough was full of water. He then prayed to the Lord, and fire came down and hissed as it struck the water, and the bullock was entirely consumed.

The people fell on their faces and said, "The Lord, he is the God; the Lord he is the God." And Elijah told them to slay all the priests of Baal and let not one escape. This was done and Jezebel swore that she would have Elijah's life for this.

Ahab Covets Naboth's Land
Ahab wanted a vineyard that belonged to a man named Naboth, who had inherited it and therefore did not care to sell or trade it. The king pouted over this and when his wife knew what was wrong with him she said not to worry, she would get the vineyard for him. With a trumped up trick she had Naboth killed, and calmly told Ahab the land was his. For this Elijah pronounced a dreadful doom for Ahab and his whole race.

The Israelites and Syrians had four great battles and at last Ahab was killed by an arrow through his breastplate. Jezebel later died a horrible death.

Ahaziah reigned after Ahab, but he too did evil and worshipped Baal, and Elijah prophesied his sudden death, which happened as the prophet said, and Jehoram reigned in his stead, according to the opening of the second book of Kings. In the second chapter of this book Elisha succeeds Elijah as the Lord's prophet. Elijah had chosen him, you may remember. Elisha asked Elijah that he might be given a double portion of his spirit, but Elijah said that was a hard thing to promise. "Nevertheless," he said, "if thou see me when I am taken from thee, it shall be so unto thee; but if not, it shall not be so."

As they talked, however, there appeared a chariot of fire and horses of fire, and parted them, and Elijah "went up by a whirlwind into heaven". Elisha saw it and cried, "My father, my father, the chariot of Israel, and the horsemen thereof!" The mantle of Elijah fell upon him.

Elisha was not banished to the wilderness. He had his own house in the city and a devoted servant, and was honored. At his word, Jehu was anointed king of Israel and during his reign all the descendants of Ahab were slain and the images of Baal were broken and the house of Baal. "Thus Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel."

LOSE DRIVING CARDS
During the week ending April 25, two Lawrence county motorists had their operating licenses suspended, one for failure to stop at a stop sign and one for being involved in a fatal accident.

During the period, the Bureau of Highway Safety withdrew the cards of 588 drivers of which 48 were revoked and 550 suspended. Operating privileges were restored to 282 persons.

The early United States stamps were not perforated, and the sheets had to be cut apart. According to an old story, a hunter first used perforations when he placed some stamps on a table and used his spur to separate them.

"I lead a double life and like it"

"Confidentially, I'm a married woman, but an automatic electric range gives me my freedom. It lets me lead the kind of 'double life' that every woman wants—a well-managed, well-run home with time for leisure, too.

"With my electric range I cook with a switch instead of the old-fashioned way. It's automatic—just put the food in the oven, set the timer, and the electric range does the rest. Starts breakfast coffee before I'm up, cooks dinner while I'm at the movies, playing bridge or just spending time with my family.

"Electric cooking even saves me money for the more frivolous things of life. Cakes don't burn, roasts remain juicy, inexpensive cuts of meat cook tender. I tell you, it's more than a 'double life'—it's a wonderful life."

Mellon Institute On Peace Basis

PITTSBURGH, May 8.—(INS)—Mellon Institute today was back on a definite peacetime basis of research for human welfare, rather than human destruction.

Dr. L. R. Weidman, director of the famous Pittsburgh Research Institute, said in the 34th annual report that during the past year the institute expanded $2,697,982 for "fundamental investigation in the natural sciences for the benefit of mankind through public health, the professions, education and technology."

He pointed out that fellowships interrupted during the war had been resumed, with new fellowships in coal, insecticidal dusts, mine acid control, drainage and plastics started.

During the war, most of the research at the institute was along military lines.

Fernando De Soto discovered the Mississippi river in 1541.

One of the so-called "Hudson River painters" in America John F. Kensett (1818-1872), came from Cheshire, Conn. He became an amateur painter, was apprenticed to his uncle, Alfred Daggett, to learn the trade of an engraver. He went to England and Europe in 1840, and on returning in 1847 engraving to paint naturalistic landscapes, for which he became famous. One-fourth of the 60,000,000 farms in the U. S. grow cotton.

Final meeting for service officers of veterans' organizations in the county will be held Wednesday, May 14, in the court house beginning at 7:30 p. m. This will mark the last session for the group until it is organized in the fall.

Rice Crop Fate Rests With Rush Job On Big Motor

Westinghouse Hustling To Finish
Irrigation Pump Motor For California Site

PITTSBURGH, May 8.—(INS)—One of Pittsburgh's largest industrial plants today staged a dramatic race against time and production difficulties.

The stake is a 20,000-acre rice crop now drying up in northern California fields for lack of life-giving irrigation.

Engineers and production workers at the Westinghouse Electric Corp. are attempting to telescope a 20-day job into less than six days to produce a 350-horsepower motor to drive irrigation pump equipment at Willows, Cal.

Vice-President T. I. Phillips said the motor was urgently needed to save the 70-million pound crops valued at $2,800,000.

Growers Make Plea
The growers pleaded with the company to complete the motor and deliver it within ten days or else the crop will be lost.

Phillips declared: "We have a chance to make the deadline if all the production tricks and emergency efforts go smoothly. Normally, at least 20 days are required to turn out a finished motor of this type."

He said engineers have "thrown away the book" to complete the job, and the work has been given "top billing" with such a prize in the balance.

The Motor Trucking Association of Southern California has offered to pick up the complete motor the minute it is finished. A top priority truck will "highball" the motor across the country to Willows, under either a police or military escort, Westinghouse officials said.

The motor is expected to be completed Friday or Saturday. Phillips said efforts to find an airplane large enough to carry the 15,000-pound, nine-foot motor were unsuccessful.

The peach receives the most prominent position in the mythical fancies of the Taoists in China, and plays an important role in Chinese superstition. To the Taoist sages and alchemists the fruit of the peach tree is the chief ingredient of their "elixir of life," and therefore is the symbol of immortality. Endless stories and romances are told about it.

TWO PARAGUAYAN GUNBOATS BATTLE IN BUENOS AIRES

BUENOS AIRES, May 8.—(INS)—An undetermined number of Paraguayan seamen nursed gunwounds today following a rifle battle between two Paraguayan gunboats in drydock at Buenos Aires.

The incident flared up last night when the crew of one boat, the "Humaita," moved to join the rebel forces in the Paraguayan civil war. The crew of the other boat, the "Paraguay," refused to follow suit and fired on their countrymen.

There are veins of coal under about two-thirds of Illinois.

SKF INDUSTRIES PRESIDENT SEES NO DEPRESSION

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—(INS)—William L. Batt, president of SKF

Industries, Inc., declared today that a nationwide depression like that of the '30's is unlikely "in the predictable future."

Batt contended that accumulated demand at home and abroad is too vast and imperative to permit a general economic collapse. He warned, however, against any tendency of both labor and capital to "price themselves out of the market."

Garden Council Flower Show

Lawrence County Garden Council Has Flower Display On Wednesday

SHOW IN TRINITY CHURCH GUILD ROOM

Those who feel that spring is far behind—and who didn't this morning?—would have had cause to wonder if they had attended the blossoms on array at the spring flower show of the Lawrence County Garden Council in Trinity Episcopal church guild room Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was marked by a good attendance of member clubs and proved one of unusual interest.

Members had combed their gardens for spring-flowering bulbs, early perennials, and shrubs to take to the meeting a surprising array of flowering beauty. Arrangements ranged from large informal arrangements of flowering bulbs in deep vases to a tiny miniature that featured a clump of blue.

Since this is the season of narcissus and jonquils, the majority of the arrangements featured them in profusion and variety many based in flat containers suitable for a dining table or buffet.

At the close of the afternoon's program a popular vote was taken for the winner and Mrs. Edwin T.

Duff's fan-shaped arrangement of jonquils in an urn-shaped crystal vase gave her first place in the vote of the group. Mrs. Duff is a member of the East Side Garden club. Mrs. Russell Allen, of the Lawrence County Garden club, won second place with her arrangement of double white narcissus in a white container. Three were tied for third place, a large arrangement of flowering crab in perfection of bloom, displayed by Mrs. Frank Moorhead, of Oakwood Garden club, and two Walno Garden club entries, Mrs. Lyle Hughes' narcissus and rhododendron in a white madonna container, and Mrs. Leo Dover's carefully and delightfully executed garden miniature. Mrs. Moorhead placed third on a show of hands.

It was decided by the council that displays will be taken to each meeting, and according to a vote of the group present, points will be credited to the garden club to which the member taking the display belongs. Twenty-five points will be given for the display that places first, 20 for second place and 15 for third place. At the close of the 47-48 season a cup will be awarded the winning club.

Officers Installed

As the highlight of the installation of officers for the coming year, Mrs. E. L. Davenport as president and Mrs. Humphrey Richards, Mrs. Lyle Hughes and Mrs. Robert W. Lamoree, a lovely bouquet of flowers was presented to Mrs. Davenport, and corsages to the other incoming officers by Mrs. J. H. Vogan, retiring president. From the council, Mrs. Vogan received an azalea bush, balled and burlapped, ready for planting, presented by Mrs. Robert M. Lamoree, and to Miss Margaret Brown was presented a rose plant. All the recipients expressed their appreciation and Mrs. Vogan graciously thanked the officers and members for their cooperation during the past year.

"In place," she said, "of a presidential address, Mrs. Davenport read a poem 'A Little Less of You and Me, a Little More of Us'."

To Dedicate Rose Garden

Members attention was called to the "Road to Remembrance" memorial to World War I heroes, planted after World War I, and they were informed of present plans concerning it. It takes off from Route 19 between Harlansburg and Leesburg. The planting along the road was sponsored by the Lawrence County Garden club as a memorial after World War I.

Announcement was also made by Mrs. James Moorehead, of the date when it is planned to have the formal dedication of the Community Rose Garden opposite Jameson Memorial hospital. It will take place Sunday evening, June 15, at 7 o'clock.

For the next council meeting June 4, it was decided to have in connection with it an all-day plant exchange and Mrs. T. L. Shaffer, who was named chairman, will be assisted by a committee representing each of the nine member garden clubs. Serving with her will be Mrs. James Moorehead, Mrs. Richard Cooper, Mrs. Lyle Hughes, Mrs. Fred Sontum, Mrs. F. E. Albom, Mrs. Edwin Duff and Mrs. J. H. Vogan. Those who contribute plants were asked to have them carefully wrapped for easy handling and labeled.

Tenth Anniversary Is Being Observed By Gustav's Bakery

Gustav's Pure Food bakery, located at the corner of Croton avenue and East Washington street, is celebrating its tenth anniversary today. The bakery was started two doors from its present location, but later the building in which the bakery is now located was purchased. Considerable money was expended to make it pest proof.

Cream foods are kept under refrigeration in the display room, and the baking department is located in the rear of the first, main floor. The pest-proof cellar is used for storage. All departments are visible to patrons and everything is spic and span.

During the life of the bakery patrons have been served efficiently and courteously. Annually, the proprietor attends bakery classes held in either St. Louis, Chicago, New York, Philadelphia or Cleveland to gain new ideas, which are put into execution at his bakery here.

During the war, it was sometimes impossible to obtain certain ingredients, but now they are more easily obtained, hence the establishment is able to serve anything required in bakery foods.

The bakery was busy receiving congratulations on the tenth anniversary in business here from patrons and other businessmen today.

Air Transport
Boom In Manila

MANILA—(INS)—In Manila, as in the United States, the air transportation business is mushrooming to amazing proportions. Inter-island and transoceanic travel by air is the new Philippine republic as banana palms and rice.

At present there are two major passenger lines, Far Eastern Air Transport Incorporated and Philippine Air Lines. For some time now these companies have been vying for public favor in newspapers, radio program and even in publicity stunts. P.A.L. for example, is sponsoring a bathing beauty contest and plans an annual function to name a "Miss Philippines". Contestants will be flown by PAL plane to Manila and the winner of the title may be flown to the United States for the usual run of personal appearances and the ritual screen test.

Transoceanic Business
Both outfits are in transoceanic as well as interisland business. PAL, through Transoceanic Airlines, operates regular C-54 flights to the United States. FEAT flies to Bangkok, Hong Kong and Shanghai and plans stateside operation in the near future.

Other lines in the islands specialize in charter flights and freight flying. Trans-Asiatic, which is operated by a group of young American ex-army pilots, is flying regularly now on group-charter basis to Bangkok, Saigon, Singapore and Hong Kong.

Competition is strictly in the "American way". Pretty hostesses are requisite. FEAT, in fact employs American stewardesses to train the crop of Filipino recruits. Trans-Asiatic plans installing regular army bunks instead of seats so that passengers may relax during the lengthy run to the Asiatic mainland.

To Paint 12,000
Miles Of Traffic
Lines During '47

Lawrence County To Have 100 Miles Painted In State Operation

HARRISBURG, May 8—The Department of Highways during 1947 will paint traffic lines on 12,000 miles of highway.

The operation will take 120,000 gallons of paint.

Traffic lines to be applied this year will conform to the standard adopted by the department during 1946.

The new markings consist of a double line at horizontal and vertical curves. In most instances one line is solid, while the other is broken.

Under the old standard used in Pennsylvania solid lines indicated that it should not be crossed by vehicles, while a broken line was intended as a guide line and could be crossed safely when passing another vehicle.

The new type of traffic line preserves this same principle. When the broken line is on the right side of the solid line in the direction of travel, the line may be crossed. When the solid line is on the right side in the direction of travel it may not be crossed.

A solid line is placed at each horizontal or vertical curve and the broken line is placed along side of it when the sight distance increases sufficiently to permit safe crossing.

Lawrence county will have 100 miles of highway painted during the operation.

Gambling Casino
Plans To Issue
Rain Insurance

MONTE CARLO—(INS)—Cleaned out gamblers sooner or later may be insured against losses at roulette or trente-et-quarante if Monte Carlo casino officials eventually carry out all their ambitious ideas.

They haven't got around to planning insurance against gambling losses yet. But the resourceful "Societe des Bains de Mer" which operates the Monte Carlo Casino has come up with a new idea—an insurance plan against rain.

While it sounds like an old joke, Monte Carlo officials are seriously considering this project. If all goes well, the "anti-rain" insurance scheme should begin to work next Summer.

Will Be Reimbursed
It means that visitors at this gambling paradise automatically will be reimbursed for all expenses—less gambling losses—for each rainy day they spend in the Principality.

But Monte Carlo always bets on the safe side. The plan will operate only from the beginning of July to the end of September, the most torrid period of the year on the sunny Riviera.

The Monaco Municipal Council also is considering a series of projects to modernize and improve the Principality and architects are now working on these ideas. They provide for building deluxe hotels, an airfield on the sea (owing to lack of space), new gardens, new movie palaces and 12 elevators to save visitors the trouble of climbing the steps.

Proposes Reducing
British Conscription

LONDON, May 8—(INS)—British Defense Minister A. V. Alexander presented to the House of Commons today a measure to reduce the period of military conscription from 18 months to 12 months.

Alexander declared that the government had decided to recommend the reduction after a survey of Britain's economic position.

He said that the government is satisfied that the security of Britain would not be placed in jeopardy by the proposed change.

Despite Slight Slump U. S. Gardeners Raise Large Vegetable Crop

By WILLIAM UMSTEAD
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(INS)—American gardeners have slackened their pace somewhat, but they're still producing vegetables for the table at a higher rate than in previous peacetime years.

Agriculture Department officials say there will be fifteen million gardens in the United States this year. That's above the peacetime average, but falls short of the wartime peak of twenty-two million.

H. W. Hochbaum, department gardening specialist, believes that the decline in gardening largely has been due to a lack of ground for gardens and adverse weather conditions this year.

The government, which pushed the wartime "victory garden," is still trying to get people to plant gardens, but is using a different approach to the subject.

New Incentives

Instead of encouraging gardens to help alleviate food shortages, it's now asking for vegetable planting because "it's good fun, a good way to save money on food, and provides vitamins needed for the daily diet."

Hochbaum says that there hasn't been much change in the number of gardens being planted in suburban and rural areas. But, the city dwellers are planting less because of a lack of space or poor soil.

The Agricultural Department expert says that "you can't blame people for letting up when they have to go long distances to find ground in which to plant gardens because their own soil is too poor."

Hochbaum says that the government is emphasizing green, leafy vegetables and so-called "yellow" vegetables for this year's garden. That means more lettuce, onions, carrots, beets, turnips and radishes.

The Agricultural Department points out that millions of families discovered "many gardening values" during the war through their victory gardens. And, the department added:

"Nutritional and recreational values of gardening and the satisfaction derived from improvement of home and community surroundings justify an intensive, long-range garden program."

It is believed that the name "Nickel" derives from "Kupfer-Nickel," meaning "Old Nick's Copper," given to the metal by early-day miners in Saxony because it was difficult to smell and work.

Jap. Information Chief Quits Over News 'Leak' Issue

TOKYO, May 8.—(INS)—Katsuzo Okumura resigned today from his post as chief of the information section of the Japanese foreign office in an aftermath of Tuesday's meeting between Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Emperor Hirohito. Okumura announced he has taken the responsibility for a "leak" through which newsmen in Tokyo learned of the MacArthur-Hirohito conversation.

He submitted his resignation despite a denial by MacArthur that he had pledged aid by the United States in Japan's future defense.

Okumura, a career man in the foreign office, was believed to have acted as the emperor's interpreter in Hirohito's talk with the supreme allied commander.

It was questionable whether Okumura's resignation would be accepted. Japanese government officials were so upset over the "leak" that there was talk Okumura would be fired, a step that would bar him from any governmental employment in the future.

Okumura refused to see anyone this afternoon.

NEWLY-ELECTED president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, Earl O. Shreve (above) took sharp issue with President Truman's plea to cut prices. He said the people will not be "fooled by attempts to make business men scapegoats and blame business alone for the wage-price spiral."

Neshannock To Get County Aid

County Commissioners Make Improvement Grant To Neshannock Twp.

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

Following a conference between residents of Neshannock township and the county commissioners on Wednesday morning, an outright grant of $2,000 was made by the commissioners to the township for improving a road known variously as Oakwood Way, Wilson Road and Chapel Road. The delegation of citizens was headed by Road Supervisor Clyde Hutchison.

Mr. Hutchison said the township was interested in improving the road mentioned above and also in paving North Mercer street. The latter he said would have to wait until it could be definitely established where the lines are.

The Chapel Road improvement he said would cost about $6,000 and that the township would bear two thirds of the cost if the county would take one third.

Chairman Earl R. Wimer said that most of the money in the liquid fuels tax fund was earmarked for bond redemption, interest, bridge repairs and road damages. He said that the commissioners had voted $3,000 to Washington township if the money was available.

Commissioner Karl T. Rohrer said he was opposed to making individual grants to townships unless all townships were treated equally. "I am not dealing politically," he said, "I am in favor of aiding the townships but only if all townships are given equal treatment."

Said Wimer: "I don't feel like treating every township the same. In the end perhaps we can but with the balance we have it looks to me that we should take them as they come."

Wimer moved that the $2,000 be granted to Neshannock township and Commissioner Joseph F. Travers seconded it. On the vote, Rohrer voted "No" reiterating his reason given above.

ONE SENTENCED

Pleading to a charge of driving while intoxicated, Charles Pine was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs and thirty days in the county jail by Judge W. Walter Braham. He will be released in three days if the fine and costs are paid.

DIVORCE COURT FRIDAY

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 8.—(INS)—Michael Redgrave, the British star, begins his second American picture and a race against time today.

He has only six months working time in this country as a visitor if he is to escape paying income tax to Uncle Sam as well as to John Bull.

Redgrave explained: "If I had to pay tax in the United States as well as England there'd be no profit in it at all for me on these two pictures.

"In fact they would cost me money."

He spent almost 14 weeks of his allotted time co-starring with Joan Bennett in "The Secret Beyond the Door" for Diana productions. He didn't even get a day's rest in between that and his RKO assignment, "Mourning Becomes Electra" with Rosalind Russell.

Redgrave likes Hollywood and hopes to make further pictures for American studios, but he's made no definite plans.

"I don't believe in having too definite plans too far ahead," he said, "it might keep you from doing something you really want to do."

"I like to have freedom of action."

"Even under my first contract with British Gaumont I had six months of the year to do as I wished."

He said he has even more freedom under his present contract with J. Arthur Rank, the king-pin British producer.

Redgrave, a handsome young giant, said he would never sign a contract exclusively with one studio.

"I don't believe an artist can develop his full talent under the star system as used in some Hollywood studios," he said.

Your reporter interrupted: "You'd rather be doing things you want to do rather than just doing something to make money?"

Redgrave laughed and said, "Yes, I would. You don't keep much of the money anyhow."

We're Torn Up A Bit, But Not For Long

Just now The Castleton dining room looks like a fugitive from an atomic bomb. In a phrase, "it's torn up". But it won't be for long. Just until the decorators finish the job of making it the best looking hotel dining room in Western Pennsylvania. In the mean time, meals are being served in the Coral room.

A Good Horse Never Quits, Neither Does A Federal

The difference between an ordinary horse and a champion, is that the champion never quits trying. That's why it is a champion. Same thing with a Federal truck. Give it half a chance to keep going and it never quits. For Federals are the product of a long line of competent mechanics, men who by their genius, transfer their quality into the trucks they make.

But try one and be sure these are not just words.

Enon Valley Phone Rate Boost Held Up For Hearings

HARRISBURG, May 8.—(INS)—The Public Utility Commission announced today it has suspended for six months a tariff filed by the Enon Valley Telephone Co., proposing to increase service rates effective May 1.

The commission said it would conduct hearings and an investigation into the reasonableness of the proposed increases.

The telephone utility has estimated the proposed rates will increase its annual gross revenues approximately $1480, the PUC said.

The utility services 530 customers in Enon Valley and surrounding townships in Lawrence and Beaver counties.

The illuminated manuscript played a peculiarly important part in the development and spread of Byzantine art. It is thought that the earliest manuscripts were illustrations centered in Alexandria under Greek influence. The roll or "rotulus" was the earliest form; but the book, or "codex," developing somewhat later, became the accepted type. Two pages from an illuminated Byzantine manuscript, dated 1057-1063, were recently purchased by the Cleveland (Ohio) Museum of Art.

HURT IN CRASH

Engine And Caboose Sideswiped By Eastbound Train In City Of Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—(INS)—Six railroad men were injured today when a westbound Baltimore & Ohio engine and caboose were sideswiped by an eastbound train in Philadelphia.

Police said the eastbound engine went through an open switch and crashed into the side of the westbound locomotive, upsetting the caboose.

Flames quickly enveloped the caboose. Roy Davis, 42, of Philadelphia, the freight conductor, was trapped inside the car.

He was rescued by crewmen Samuel Hoffman and Edward J. Kalleta, both of Baltimore. Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze and a police rescue squad stood by.

Davis, Hoffman, Kalleta, Engineer Raymond B. Cranfield, 40, and George S. Wilson, a fireman, both of Baltimore, were taken to Graduate hospital.

Physicians detained Davis for observation along with R. Stalling of Brunswick, Md., engineer of the eastbound locomotive.

The accident occurred near the B & O East Side yards at 34th and Wharton streets.

DISAPPROVES PLAN

CHICAGO, May 8.—(INS)—Peter D'Agostino, president of the National Association of Retail Grocers, was on record today against "arbitrary, over-all price cuts on food at the present time."

D'Agostino issued a statement in Chicago last night which branded such reductions as "cut-rate sales" which mislead customers.

The New York executive said the logical way to reduce prices was for retailers, suppliers and others engaged in the food industry to work for increased productivity at all levels.

"If the British do not pay, Egypt has other plans."

The Daily Express reported that the finance minister stated that his government will ask Britain to surrender her one hundred million sterling shares in the Suez Canal and other British enterprises in Egypt as part payment for Egypt's sterling balance in London.

Plan Hearings On Overhauling U. S. Tax Structure

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(INS)—Rep. Knutson (R), Minn., chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, announced today that public hearings will begin May 19 with a view to completely overhauling the nation's tax structure. Knutson said the committee will go into corporation, excise, personal and all other taxes and tax plans in hearings which will continue for the remainder of the session. He told reports that the committee will return in the fall, probably in December, to write a new tax bill for introduction January 3. Knutson said the purpose of the new legislation will be to "harmonize all revenue acts which have been passed in the last 15 years and iron out the bugs in all of them." Knutson predicted that "with revenues coming in the way they are, it would seem we can make payment on the national debt and reduce taxes substantially." He added, however, that new sources of incomes must be found "to supplement income taxes which are not too dependable when times get difficult."

Many advantages are offered for signing. Among them, the Marine reservist is reappointed to the rank held at time of discharge, and reserve time counts towards longevity pay increases.

ADMITTS CASHING FRIEND'S CHECK
PITTSBURGH, May 8.—(INS)—Neil McClain's conscience bothered him, enough so, in fact, that he faces federal charges. He walked into the office of Detective Sergeant John Haseman in Pittsburgh last night and said: "I'm here to confess."

Then he told how he went to a room of a friend last week, found the friend was out and also found a letter. He opened the letter, and endorsed and cashed a government check for $17.50 that it contained. He was held for investigation.

Cardinals Rally Behind Pollet And Defeat Brooklyn

Cards Look Like Champions Again, Braves Edge Bucs

Howie Pollet In Trouble Several Times, But Wins 2 To 1, Braves Win 3-2

HANK GREENBERG HAS CHIPPED ELBOW

By LES CONKLIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, May 8.—There's no trouble so dire that it won't respond to a slight attack of pusillanimity, as the St. Louis Cardinals are now in a position to attest. Yesterday, they looked like the champions of the world for the first time this season in winning a pulse-stopper from the Dodgers, by 2-1.

Today, they even feel the part. For when Howie Pollet went nine rugged innings against the top challenger, the Cards felt that calamity had run its course and the turn toward better things was definitely at hand.

Pollet In Form
He was the old Pollet yesterday in eking out that one-point decision in the mist and rain at Ebbets Field. And when you say that about Pollet, you say a very great deal for St. Louis pitching.

Hartry Brecheen stole the show for the Cardinals in the World Series. But without Pollet's 21 victories, the Cards wouldn't even have got that far.

Brave Trip Pirates
The Ebbets Field affair was the only daylight game yesterday to survive the continued run of bad weather. However, the nocturnal attractions in Boston and St. Louis managed to get themselves played, with the Braves winning another from the Pirates, 3-2, on Earl Torgeson's eighth-inning homer.

In St. Louis, the Browns fell one flight into the American League basement by losing 6-1 to the Athletics—thanks to Hank Majeski's two-run homer and Dick Fowler's seven-hit pitching.

The Braves' win, coupled with that of the Cardinals, drew the National race a little tighter, with the Braves moving to within a single game of the leading Dodgers.

Greenberg Out
Going into Boston, the Pirates had been the runner-up. But not only did they lose two straight, but last night they lost Hank Greenberg, forced out before game-time with what was diagnosed as a chipped elbow. The result was that Manager Billy Herman went to first base—and later to the clubhouse for violently protesting the legitimacy of Torgeson's home run.

Without Greenberg, who may be out for weeks, the Pirates hardly could hope to stay up there in the "first division—especially" with the Cards beginning to give indications of making their move out of last place.

Elks Bowlers Enjoy Evening, Devour Turkey

Elks Bowlers 150 Strong Turn Out For Annual Party, Wadlinger Toast Master

HOWARD SMITH MAN OF HOUR

New Castle Elks Lodge 69 held its annual bowling banquet last night at the club and scored a "300" for the evening. In the parlance of bowling that means a perfect game. One hundred and fifty members of the three Elks bowling leagues—duplicates and tenpins—sat down to the ultimate in turkey dinners.

"Watch for the day of the seventh of May" we have been hearing. Well, the seventh of May was the night, and the Elks made it an evening of evenings with a bowling party the likes of which Elks Maxwell never dreamed.

The evening began at 7 o'clock with steaming plates of turkey and stuffing and everything else that makes up a dinner of this nature, and again Fred Palmer shot the course under par, with a swell meal, tasty and well served. Arch Thompson, Elks chaplain, said the blessing before the assembled bowlers sat down.

Wadlinger Toastmaster
Major Guy J. Wadlinger handled the toastmaster job with all the aplomb of a Chauncey DePew, had the men splitting their sides with his clever anecdotes and had them spellbound with his amazing knowledge of the game of bowling and its history, early and late.

Chairman, William Watkins, Austin Smith, Howard Smith, William Watkins, Austin Smith, "Archie" Combs, Bill Mackie, Homer Miles and Rudy Herman—couldn't have selected a better man to handle the toastmaster role. "Guy" more than fit the bill.

There were no long winded speeches, the exalted ruler of the Elks, Fred Foster, talked briefly and read an "important telegram" that caused dismay to the champions and delight to the runners-up. James Travers, local bowling alley proprietor, was introduced and took a bow, as did Charles "Bugs" Walther, sports writer, both special guests. There were several extemporaneous speakers on the program too numerous to mention.

Smith Presents Awards
The most important (to the bowlers) part of the program was given over to Bowling Chairman "Howie" Smith, and it was his lot to pass out the prizes won by the various men and teams. "Howie" was in his glory as he preceded each award with a well directed remark that had the crowd in stitches.

Fine Tenpin League
The Elks had three leagues this past winter, two duplicate and one tenpin league. The first to get their rewards were the tenpin bowlers, Homer Miles and Rudy Herman doing a swell job in keeping the league going this year. The members of the championship team were Wally Patterson, Tom Twiddle, Jim Cypher, Jesse Dufford, Harry Taylor and Nick Paella. They received cash awards. High average man for the season was Andy Venditto with 171. High one game, Frank Kelly 241; high three games, Andy Venditto 613; five-man team high single game, Pirates 869; high five-man team three games, Pirates 2479. Cash awards were given to all individual highs.

Two Duplicate Leagues
Next to get their awards were the members of the championship Tuesday night duplicate league, the champions being the Michigan team, captained by John Kroen, and containing Glenn Forrester, Ed Lamm, Wilbur Whiting, Leroy Todd and Ray Delaney.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

JET PILOT, by Blenheim II-Black Wave, was the second cold in 73 years Kentucky Derby running who drew No. 13 position to win the classic. Blenheim was the winner of the English Derby, and is the sire of Whirlaway. Blenheim was bred by Aga Khan, raced by him in England, and sold to a United States syndicate for $250,000, in 1936. Jet Pilot will make the second leg of the triple-crown Saturday in the Preakness and then go after the Belmont Stakes in June. Jet Pilot is now at Baltimore and according to "Silent" Tom Smith, trainer, "It doesn't make any difference to Jet Pilot whether it rains or not." His Kentucky Derby victory Saturday was over a strip slowed by a week of rain. Last November, Jet Pilot, stopped at Pimlico to win the Futurity at a mile and a sixteenth. In that race, Faultless, which was third in the Derby (Phalanx being second), finished fourth. The Preakness is a mile and three-sixteenths, compared to the derby's mile and a quarter.

John Elias inaugurated the Fayette County Baseball league by pitching a perfect no-run, no-hit game as Butte defeated Royal, 5-0. . . . Dick Metz, "name player" in the golfing world and Fred Corcoran, publicity director of the Professional Golfers Association, after a several hours session at Chicago, shook hands and agreed to agree. Some months ago Metz hit Corcoran without even calling for. . . . Jimmy Doyle of Los Angeles, prepping for his bout with Sugar Robinson in Cleveland, stopped George Bradford Smith of New York in the sixth round. . . . Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano will box at the Chi-Stadium, and not Wrigley field, July 16. . . . Ezzard Charles, Cincinnati light-heavyweight, turned in his fourteenth consecutive win by taking a 10-round decision from Archie Moore. Ezzard knocked down Moore in seventh and Moore slowed down to a "walk" the rest of the distance.

Ray Berres, ex-Pirates, has rejoined the Boston Braves. . . . Louise Suggs took top honors in the qualifying round of the Southern Women's golf meet at Atlanta, firing two under par 70. . . . Rain has held back the fixing of baseball fields here. Mayor John F. Haven's decision that circuses no longer will be allowed to show on baseball fields is a good move. . . . Rolfe Hemsley, veteran catcher, has been granted an unconditional release by the Phils. . . . Benny Leonard, who died recently, left an estate, in excess of $200,000. His widow was named beneficiary.

Byron La Forest, former third baseman with the Bo-Sox, died Monday at Arlington, Mass. . . . George Brunner, Camden, N. J. mayor, has invited the Phils and A's to play their games in Camden, to escape Philadelphia's new one percent wage tax on visiting ball players. Their franchises compel them to play home games in the Quaker city.

Greek Athlete Is Seeking Funds For '48 Olympic Team

Greek Marathon Runner Says Greece Badly In Need Of Funds And Athletic Equipment

NEW YORK, May 8.—(INS)—Stylanos Kyriakidis, Greek winner of the 1946 Boston marathon, indicated today he would initiate personal visits to schools in an attempt to raise the $50,000 declared to be needed to finance Greece's appearance at the Olympic games next year.

In addition to the money, Greece was said to be badly in need of athletic equipment.

Need Funds Badly
Kyriakidis made known his country's athletic plight during a press conference at the offices of Greek consul general. He strongly intimated that, without outside aid, Greece's participation in the London meet would be "seriously in doubt."

It was added that William Hells, wealthy New Orleans racing man, planned to aid his former country by financing the rebuilding of Greek running tracks, destroyed by bombings.

Kyriakidis proposed starting his personal appeal campaign with a tour of schools in Boston, Philadelphia and Detroit.

Snow And Cold Cancels County Baseball Games

Freak weather, featuring snow flurries and a dipping thermometer, cancelled out the Lawrence County League baseball card last night.

One game is slated for tonight at the Ewing Park field in Ellwood City where the Vets and the Moose will clash.

Most of the diamonds around the loop are reported in soggy condition and little action is forecast until at least Sunday. Only three of the ten scheduled games have been played thus far.

Titan And Tech Track Meet Off

Athletes Will Hear Buddy Overend Of Tech At Banquet Tonight In New Wilmington

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 8.—Cold weather caused the cancellation of the Westminster-Carnegie Tech track meet scheduled at Pittsburgh, Wednesday afternoon. No new date for the meeting has yet been set.

All men who have participated in varsity sports this year at Westminster will be guests of the college at a dinner to be held Thursday evening at Ferguson Hall. Buddy Overend, faculty manager at Carnegie Tech, will be the speaker.

Umpires Will Meet Tonight

Dal Hartman has called a special meeting of the Lawrence County Umpires for tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the "Y" for the ratifying of an agreement reached with the city baseball league regarding the handling of city league games this season. All members of the association are asked to attend the session.

The principal address was delivered by Ross R. Rosenberger, in which he pointed out that golf brought together men of all positions of life, all religious beliefs, and all racial stocks, to enjoy the democratic influences of the game.

Winners Get Trophy
President McCann presented Andy Justine, captain of the Ellwood City golf team, last season's winners, with a beautiful trophy cup, emblematic of their prowess, and Captain Justine accepted the cup in behalf of his team, whom he introduced.

Ted Lach, winner of the West Penn Public Links tournament held at Sylvan Heights course late last summer, was presented with a handsome trophy, as an acknowledgment of his feat in winning from a class of his.

Plans for the season were completed at a meeting of the league representatives after the dinner, and in conclusion, the golfers enjoyed themselves informally until a late hour.

Twelve Horses Await Preakness

Jet Pilot and Phalanx Expected To Battle It Out Again, Contest Is Threat

PIMLICO, Md., May 8.—(INS)—The probable field for the 57th running of the Preakness on Saturday boomed down to 12 today as the favorite odds shifted from Malne Chance's Jet Pilot to C. V. Whitney's Phalanx.

In addition to Jet Pilot and Phalanx, the Preakness field may consist of King Ranch's Contest, Mrs. Elizabeth Whitney's Bullet Proof, William Hells' Cosmic Bomb, Circle M. Ranch's Riskolater, Calumet Farms' Faultless, B. J. Bax's King Bay, Ridgewood Stables' Double Jay, Mill River Stable's Scenav, E. O. Stice's On Trust and E. P. Taylor's Cornish Knight.

Contest Is Threat
Contest was established as a new threat in the forthcoming classic when the three-year-old colt rattled off a mile in 1:45 1-5 over a strip pronounced deep and a trifle on the slow side.

The Preakness candidate was accompanied by the champion Assault and kept at the side of last year's Preakness winner at all times during the workout.

Phalanx Favorite
Despite his defeat by Jet Pilot in the Kentucky Derby, Phalanx today took over as the favorite for the race although the odds may change back if the track is off Saturday.

Jet Pilot and Phalanx, who galloped a turn around the course yesterday, probably will be given speed tests today.

Two of the Greentree stable's thoroughbreds were declared out of the Preakness. Trainer James Gaver announced that Wide Wings and Tails did not run to expectations in the Survivor Stakes Tuesday and would not be entered.

Industrial City Softball Opens Season Monday
